DOHENY OFFERS TO QUIT OIL LEASES

Lincoln Confesses 2 Murders

A warm, soaking, steady rain that varied from one-half to over two inches in depth covered all central California yesterday and last night, breaking the second driest winter known and saving livestock and farms from serious losses. Nineteen inches of snow at Summit will help the irrigating farmers although more must be had if the situation during the coming summer is to be normal. Continuance of the storm throughout the whole state was indicated today.

The rain has been moving in slowly from the Pacific Ocean for several days. United States weather bureaus said today that the rain might be expected to continue for another day or even longer. The storm originated in the vicinity of the Aleutian islands five days ago.

Rainfall reported by the Chabot Observatory up to seven o'clock this morning was 1.62 inches. For the season to date 5.85 inches have fallen. The normal rainfall is 12.98 inches and last years' rainfall was 17.04 inches.

HEAVIEST RAIN IN SANTA ROSA.

The rainfall was heaviest at Santa Rosa, where 2.14 inches fell in 24 hours. It is still raining there. Chico was second with 1.52 and Colusa close behind with 1.40. Three other California stations had more than an inch. At Red Bluff there was 1.12; Point Reyes 1.10 and San Francisco 1.03. Sacramento had .22 inches, San Jose .90. San Luis Obispo .02, and Eureka .64 inches.

Orchardists, ranchers and stockraisers of the Santa Clara valley and the adjacent foothills are wearing broad smiles today as a result of the "million dollar" rain which started falling last evening and continued throughout the night, breaking the drought which made it necessary for orchardists to start irrigating this week.

Until yesterday the rainfall recorded at the government bureau had reached a little over two inches. The situation had become so acute that Catholic churches of the diocese had been conducting special masses at which rain was prayed for.

SIERRA FOOTHILLS GET MOISTURE.

At Stockton one inch had fallen by eight o'clock this morning and it was still raining hard. All the outlying districts even up into the Sierra Nevada foothills are receiving the rain, according to telephonic communication.

At Hollister a fall of .42 inches was reported. The rain is continuing spasmodically and weather forecasts predict more precipitation over the next 36 hours. The normal rainfall there is 8 inches and to date only 2.40 inches have fallen.

Modesto's dry spell was broken when rain began to fall at 8 o'clock last night and continued in a steady downpour through the night and today. Cattlemen were particularly benefited in the San Joaquin valley, where they have been importing hay and grain for some time.

Merced received 1.30 inches up to 7 o'clock this morning.

In the Yuba county foothills the precipitation did double duty, relieving the drought and bringing under control a forest fire which has been raging near Marysville for three days.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Probably rain tonight and Sunday was today's weather prediction issued by H. B. Hersey, Southern California observer.

The cheering news was received with gratitude by ranchers and citrus growers alike. The former have faced a prospect of no crops, while citrus men have been irrigating for weeks and water reserves are running short as a result.

TOKYO, Jan. 26.—In the sacred precincts of the imperial palace and in accordance with an ancient marriage ritual antedating the Christian era, Prince Regent Hirohito was married this morning to Princess Nagako, eldest daughter of Prince Kuni.

Residents of Tokyo indulged in their first joyous celebration since the disaster of last September. Great crowds gathered in the gaily decorated streets and thronged the open spaces in the vicinity of the palace for a glimpse of the royal couple.

The wedding was celebrated with Shinto rites and was an announcement of the event to the imperial spirits which are enshrined in the Kashiki-dokoro, or Holy of Holies, in front of which the pair took their vows. The spirits of 122 royal predecessors are believed to have witnessed the union and given their blessings.

NO FOREIGNERS WITNESS CEREMONY.

No foreigners witnessed the ceremony, only the members of the royal family and the highest dignitaries of the empire being permitted to attend the rites. The garb of the regent was the simple dress suit of a Japanese gentleman for such occasions, except that the upper cloak was red, with a shade of yellow running through it, the patterns embroidered on it representing the mandarin ducks.

The bride's costume was far more elaborate. The chief garment, or karaginu, was a dazzling kimono of scarlet and purple silk, with the chrysanthemum crest in white embroidered on it. The mo, or skirt, was another piece of artistic weaving, being of white silk, handsomely embroidered. The uwaga, or outer dress, was of purple silk, decorated with designs of pine trees and tortoises, symbols of long life. A long robe, known in Japan as the uchigiu, and the itsutsuginu, of fifth dress, were of rich silk handsomely embroidered. The bride carried a fan of gilded wood on which appeared paintings of flowers of all colors. The fan was so carried that the bride might give and receive with it, as it is not permitted to touch sacred things with one's own hands.

Accompanying the regent were the sceptre and crown. The shrine itself was decorated with offerings of fruit and chrysanthemums.

WEDDING CEREMONY ITSELF IS SIMPLE.

The ceremony was comparatively simple, being comparable to a civil wedding in Christian countries, according to Japanese students. The official public celebration had been postponed until later in the year, owing to the country's mourning. The public ceremonial will include a great banquet attended by court officials and diplomats, at which will be made official announcement to the people and to foreign powers of the fact that the heir to the throne has been married.

Tremendous crowds greeted the prince and his bride as they passed to and from the palace, before and after the ceremony. Flags were flown from many buildings, even the refugee barracks in the public parks being gaily decorated for the occasion.

Ten thousand police and soldiers lined the routes taken by the bride and bridegroom, who approached the palace by separate thoroughfares.

The royal couple, after the wedding luncheon, led a triumphal procession from the imperial palace to Akasaka, the detached palace which has been appointed their temporary residence. Tuesday, the prince regent and his bride will receive the chiefs of the diplomatic corps and their wives. Tomorrow, the royal couple will visit the emperor and the empress at Nagoya, and repeat their wedding.

HEARING ON BASE DELAYED TO FEB. 4

Postponement Gives More Time to Present Evidence on Alameda Site.

SPECIAL BY WIRE
TO THE TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Inability to make progress as rapidly as had been anticipated on other pending legislation necessitated the house naval bill affairs committee postponing until February 4, the opening date of hearings on the Alameda naval base. Little headway has been made during the past week on the naval land bill, in which the Alameda item is included, and the consensus of opinion among the committee members was that all items of the bill, which are to be disposed of before Alameda is reached, cannot be handled before the end of next week.

The postponement was greeted with enthusiasm both by Alameda and Mare Island proponents, each side having expressed a desire to have additional time in which to prepare its case.

FANATIC MOB SHELLED BY U.S. WARSHIP

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 26.—After a bombardment by the cruiser Sacramento, Colonel Bowers and 100 men of the Philippine constabulary landed and charged the entrenched Colorums, a fanatical native band, who are making a desperate stand at Socorro, Bucas Island, off the northeast coast of Mindanao.

Because of difficulty of defense and re-embarcation in case of bad weather, Colonel Bowers ordered the town burned and returned to the Sacramento with his men. One member of the constabulary was killed. The extent of the Colorums' casualties is unknown, two dead and two seriously burned having been found in the town.

Colonel Bowers intends to establish a temporary station at Consolacion, thus cutting the fanatics off from Surigao island, where their depredations started with the slaying of 19 men of the constabulary. A base will be established at Dapa, from which point detachments can easily cover Northern Suragao, where several Colorum bands are reported causing trouble.

A third company of the constabulary will establish a station at Pamosaingan to prevent the fanatics from crossing to the mainland of Mindanao. Colonel Bowers reported to headquarters here that it was inadvisable to attempt to penetrate the interior of the island. Governor-General Wood is in conference with the constabulary staff regarding the situation.

Reports of trouble were received today from Binalbagin, a sugar center, where Filipinos armed with bolos invaded the plant. Manager Charles Kocher was attacked but fought off his assailants. The American managers of the sugar central were discharged by the Filipino directors who recently took over the property, but, according to reports received here, Superintendent Carmichael and his staff refused to accept dismissal and continue to operate the plant.

MANILA, Jan. 26.—One hundred constabulary troops left Manila yesterday on the coast guard cutter Polilla for Surigao to reinforce a contingent of constabulary troops which has been attempting to disperse religious fanatics in that region.

The situation among the fanatics of Surigao province and nearby islands is growing worse. Colonel Bowers, constabulary commander, has wirelessed that two constabulary lieutenants, with 33 men, have established themselves outside the town of Placer. They have reported that more than 200 fanatics near the town are threatening to kill all officials.

In addition to the troops sent from Manila yesterday, another constabulary company has been sent to Surigao from Iligan.

Bill Provides for U. S. Building Here

SPECIAL BY WIRE
TO THE TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — An appropriation of $2,000,000 with which to erect a new federal building in Oakland, and authorization to sell the present postoffice site for not less than $1,000,000 are provided for in a bill Representative MacLafferty introduced today. The measure, which was drafted by the treasury department and has the approval of both the treasury and postoffice departments, was offered as a substitute for the original bill introduced merely asking the $2,000,000 appropriation. MacLafferty said he would ask Senator Shortridge to introduce a duplicate of the new bill in the Senate.

JAPAN FILES EXCLUSION ACT PROTEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — Tentative agreement to abandon the Japanese exclusion feature of the general immigration bill and include Japan with all other countries under the quota law was reached today by the house immigration committee, only two members being reported as opposed. Pressure upon congressional leaders through the state department because of protests lodged by Japan was given as the reason for the probable change. The committee has agreed to report out a bill that will place the quotas of all countries at 2 per cent, based on the respective populations in this country in 1890. Japan's population here at that time according to the census, 2000, which would place the number of immigrants allowed that country annually at 40. The number who came here legally last year under the gentleman's agreement, was 5800.

By A. L. BRADFORD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Japan has made another protest to the American government on discrimination against Japanese in the United States, it was learned here today.

Ambassador Hanihara, Japanese envoy here, has presented to the state department a communication making representations against the clause in the immigration bill introduced in the house by Representative Johnston, Washington, and in the senate by Senator Lodge, which would bar all Japanese from the United States.

Should this bill become law, it would supersede the gentleman's agreement between the American and Japanese governments, which was negotiated years ago to restrict Japanese immigration.

The Japanese note, it is understood on good authority, takes the position that the passage of the pending immigration bill would be a violation of the spirit of the gentlemen's agreement.

The United States supreme court having held that Japanese cannot be naturalized as American citizens, the enactment into law of the Johnston-Lodge bill would have the effect of declaring Japanese inadmissible to the United States.

The communication from Hanihara is said to take vigorous exception to such a situation. Japan takes the position in the note, it is understood, that her country should not be discriminated against, making the whole problem one of discriminating or not discriminating against a friendly country.

LINCOLN ADMITS DOUBLE MURDER

Confession of Martyr's Kin Verified by Finding of Victims' Heads.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 26.—Warren J. Lincoln, lawyer-horticulturist and self-styled distant relative of Abraham Lincoln, today confessed one of the most amazing double killings in criminal history, when he declared, according to Chief of Police Mizeds, that he slew both his wife, Lina Shoup Lincoln, and her brother, Byron Shoup, and hid of their bodies in a small greenhouse furnace at his home here, and then poured cement around their severed heads. This ghastly block was found where Lincoln said it would be—in a flower bed by his cottage—and the heads taken from it. They were identified.

Lincoln added to the confession of his disposal of the two bodies by confessing anew that he and not his wife, as he at first contended, killed Shoup.

[illegible] the shooting [illegible] Lina Byron was not in his bed or on the sleeping porch and I knew he was in my wife's room. I couldn't stand it any longer. I shot Byron through the head.

"Then I ran to the greenhouse and got my rifle. Lina was crouched on the floor crying when I got back to the house. I shot her, too."

Lincoln was nervous and pale as he ran through the grisly narrative. He kissed his son John before he started his last confession.

Coolidge Plans Step to Cancel Fall Oil Lease

Interior Department Asked for Expert Advice on Wisdom of Policy.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—While the Senate oil committee was seeking further light today on the relations of former Interior Secretary Fall and Harry Sinclair, President Coolidge asked the Interior Department to submit to hi mexpert advice as to the wisdom of the policy under which the Sinclair and Doheny interests secured leases from Fall for the oil reserves in Wyoming and California.

The President asked the department to furnish him at the earliest possible moment a report on the question of whether the leases protect the interests of the government.

This inquiry is separate from the instructions given the Department of Justice, which is studying the evidence to determine whether there has been proof of fraud, but both actions are directed toward the same end. The purpose is to ascertain definitely whether the leases should be cancelled.

Coolidge may make a public statement of the government's intentions both as to criminal and evil proceedings as soon as the departmental investigations are concluded and as soon as Fall has been given an opportunity Monday to present his side of the matter to the Senate committee. The President believes the evidence produced before the committee is too serious to warrant much delay in delineating the government's course. He does not think it should be postponed until the committee makes its report.

The disclosures before the Senate committee were talked over by the President today with John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican National committee. Adams declined to discuss the nature of the conference, but indicated that his views on the matter had been set forth in an editorial appearing in the current number of the National Republican, which says:

"The disclosures in the Farr case are in a sense discreditable to the United States Senate and to the Harding administration, for Senator Fall was a member of both. They do not, however, involve the integrity of the Senate or of the Harding administration as a whole.

"Guilt is personal, and dishonesty is a characteristic that has been noted in men of all parties; there will never be a political party in which all of its members charged with official responsibility may be depended on not to betray their trust.

"Every act committed by any official in violation of the laws he has sworn to uphold, every betrayal of trust by whomsoever committed, should be prosecuted with a view to punishment of the guilty."

GOVERNMENT PROTECTED, DECLARES DAUGHERTY.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 26.—"President Coolidge and I have a distinct understanding about the attitude of the department of justice," Attorney General Daugherty, commenting on the senate investigation of the Teapot Dome and other oil leases, declared here today.

"The interests of the government will be fully protected," Daugherty added.

"The political aspects of the oil lease inquiry will not affect the department's attitude in the slightest."

Daugherty, accompanied by Mrs. Daugherty and two nurses, arrived here early today en route to Miami Beach for a vacation.

CALIFORNIA MILLIONAIRE WILL DROP CONTRACT IF U. S. PAYS HIM FOR WORK

(By United Press Leased Wire to TRIBUNE.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—Secretary of the Navy Denby will be asked by the House Naval Affairs committee next week to explain his part in making or approving the naval oil reserve leases. The committee will meet Monday to plan procedure of an inquiry into the naval phase of the matter.

Denby testifying before the Senate public lands committee, said the leases wehe handled as department routine, without special investigation by him.

The House committee also will ask him whether he transferred from Washington to distant stations naval officers who protested to him and to Fall against making of the leases.

Representative Garrett, Tennessee, Democratic leader in the House, announced today he would introduce a resolution for cancellation of the Teapot Dome and California naval oil leases.

'Fall Very Weak, His Heart Bad,' Doctor Reports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Dr. John Wharton, physician to former Secretary of the Interior Fall, issued the following statement this afternoon:

"Mr. Fall is worse today than he was yesterday. His heart is bad. The bronchitis is clearing up nicely but he is very weak."

Asked whether Fall would be able to appear Monday, Wharton replied: "I hesitate to say at this time."

ANNUL GRANTS, JOHNSON URGES

Teapot Dome Oil Investigation Looms as Political Issue in Campaign.

By KENNETH W. CLARK.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Teapot Dome today was definitely thrust into the approaching political campaign. With the Democrats planning to make it one of the chief issues and the White House indicating that criminal action is to follow the leasing of the great naval oil reserves by ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall, Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, the only avowed candidate against President Coolidge, came forth today with a demand that the leases be cancelled immediately. Johnson indicated he would deal extensively with Teapot Dome in his coming speeches.

"Of course," said the California senator, "there is only one thing that ought to be done and it should be done without the slightest delay and that is to cancel the lease.

"This is no time for technical legal disquisitions. The circumstances for a long time have required and recent developments imperatively demanded that those who ignorantly or willfully in good faith or bad, have entered into or approved, or countenanced tainted contracts despoiling of the public domain, should instantly repudiate them."

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, who testified he loaned former Interior Secretary Fall $100,000 while he was a member of the cabinet, informed the Senate oil committee today that he was willing to cancel the oil contract with the government.

The government would be called upon, however, to reimburse the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company for its actual expenditure under the contract.

This is a modification of Doheny's original offer to cancel if a board of experts decided that the contracts were not advantageous to the government.

Doheny's offer was made by his counsel, Gavin McNab of San Francisco, but no immediate action was taken on it. McNab made this statement:

WILLING TO QUIT LEASES AT ONCE.

E. L. Doheny yesterday proposed to your committee that he would cause the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company to re-convey all interests in the contracts of that company known as the Pearl Harbor contracts if a board of experts were appointed to examine into the contracts and that board decided they were not wise, advantageous and the best that the government have made, on the condition that the government reimburse the company for its actual hearing made under the contracts without profit.

At the hearing on January 24, the chairman of the committee asked Doheny if he would be willing to have these contracts so re-conveyed without the intervention of the suggested board of experts.

Upon further consideration of the matter, Doheny now wishes to inform you that he is willing, in order that there may be no basis for criticism of his company's dealings with the gov-

Patrolman and Thugs Engage in Gun Fight

Surprised in the act of breaking into a Lisolt company's place of business at 519 Clay street, two unidentified robbers engaged in a gun fight with Policeman C. R. Miller last night. Seven shots were fired. All went wild. A jimmy and other tools were found on the sidewalk where they had been dropped by the burglars when Miller surprised them at their work. Sergeant Jack Sherry organized a posse, and a thorough search was made of the vicinity, but without effect.

Neglected Opportunities

A lady of Oakland who advertised in the classified columns of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE in January, 1906, pointed the way to financial betterment if not absolutely independence, for housewives of today.

She advertised:

"Orders taken for home-made cakes, pies and bread, salads, cooked meals and sandwiches for parties. — Valdez."

Literally hundreds of housewives who have won local fame by their cooking could develop home businesses of this kind with a little thought, planning, and publicity. The wonder is that so few attempt to meet a demand so general.

In lighter vein, in the same paper is another solution of feminine financial problems:

"Gentleman 38 desires to marry if he can find a suitable partner and would say to ladies so inclined, you would do much credit to yourselves if you answer this ad. Box 339 TRIBUNE." (Jan. 30, 1906.)

It is a pity that police activities have so curtailed opportunities of this type in the last 15 years.

DOHENY CONTENDS ALL LEASES LEGAL.

Of course, you are aware that Doheny has at all times contended and contends that all of his company's leases and contracts are entirely legal and valid, and that this letter is without prejudice to his and his company's position if the arrangement herein referred to be not concluded.

The following is an approximate statement (made up as accurately as possible at the date of this letter) of the situation regarding the eParl Harbor construction:

"Cost as per contract of Pearl Harbor facilities to December 31, 1923, $4,506,000.

"Value, as per contract, of fuel oil delivered to Pearl Harbor (completed contract), $1,986,000.

"Total, $6,486,000.

"The excess of development and operating expenses over income derived from sale of production from naval reserve lands amounts to $500,000.

"Total, $6,986,000.

"Value of royalty products delivered by government to company, $3,483,000.

"Net, $3,503,000."

There will be credited against this approximate amount the value of working materials and supplies on hand and which can be utilized elsewhere by the company.

$2,000,000 EXPENDED AT PEARL HARBOR.

In addition to the foregoing the company is obligated on construction contracts heretofore let to expend approximately $2,000,000 in connection with the Pearl Harbor development. Should the government not wish to complete these contracts and cancel the same, the company's obligations to the sub-contractors would be only the estimated amount of profit on the contracts cancelled.

Doheny does not understand that the several small leases comprising approximately two sections altogether and the leasing of which was determined upon for the purpose of drilling off-set wells to prevent drainage by wells on adjoining private lands, has been in any way subjected to criticism by the committee and he takes it that the committee and congress will desire the continued operation of these wells in order that the government interest may be protected.

As to these leases, whether or not they are recognized by the committee as valid, Doheny is willing to recommend that they be operated by his company until such time as the entire net revenue therefrom (including royalty oil inuring to the government) together with any other credits which may exist, shall have equalled whatever balance is or may become due to the company for expenditures heretofore made or incurred as hereinbefore stated, said amount to be determined by government audit, and that they then be surrendered to the government.

Community Income Tax Stirs Opposition

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON Jan. 26.—Taxation of community property occupied the house ways and means committee in its consideration of new rates today, after deciding yesterday on reductions amounting to $100,000,000, principally in the excise or nuisance taxes.

Considerable non-partisan opposition has developed over Secretary Mellon's recommendations to community property income to the individual owner. Eight states in the south and west permit husbands and wives to divide the income as joint owners and file separate returns. Acceptance of this proposal it was estimated would bring in $8,000,000 more in revenue.

Oaklanders Pledge Aid To New Antioch Bridge

ANTIOCH, Jan. 26.—Pledging co-operation with Antioch in its proposal for a bridge across the San Joaquin river by 1925, nearly a hundred members of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce were guests of this city yesterday. They received in turn assurance that the development of the metropolis of the Eastbay is the sincerest hope of Antioch and the delta country. The pledges were not limited to the building of the bridge, but to the many projects of the two communities and those of the other chambers towns in this vicinity.

Arriving at the city hall in automobiles from Oakland the party was greeted by a delegation of Antiochans headed by Mayor James Donlon and Roy Davis, banker and president of the local chamber. The visitors were taken for a tour of the Paraffine Paint company's extensive plant near the edge of the city where the manufacture of paper from waste was explained in detail. The paper was followed by the delegation from the time it was unloaded from cars as waste, and piled in 'strawstacks' until it emerged from the machines in finished sheets.

Acting as guides on the tour and assisting Mayor Donlon and Davis were A. W. Flaherty, publisher of the Antioch Ledger, Supervisor R. J. Trembath, Dr. W. S. George, A. J. West, R. P. Easley, and C. W. Harter, of the Paraffine Paint company, and M. G. Azevedo, town trustee.

On leaving the paper mill the party was guided to the site of the proposed bridge, about four miles from the city. The present ferry system was explained, it being stated that last year 25,000 persons and 16,000 automobiles were carried across the stream. The surveyors were just beginning preparations for running a line as the party arrived.

As the party reached the bridge site rain began to fall and the hosts immediately acclaimed the visitors as the bearers of the long-wanted showers.

Returning to the city hall the guests from Oakland, Brentwood, Isleton, Knightsen and Oakley were seated at a luncheon. The food served was grown in the delta region, and the menu was printed on paper made in Antioch by an Antioch commercial printer.

As the guests entered the city hall the school band played a number of selections. The band was directed by Al Barrows.

Postmaster Davis related briefly the difficulties encountered in bringing the bridge to its present status and declared now the problems have been solved by hard work and cooperation. He declared that the bridge, nearly a mile long, will be of high steel type to allow for river shipping, that it has been approved by the war department and that its permanency is assured. It will be built by the American Toll Bridge company and it is hoped will be finished in 1925.

Mayor Donlon welcomed the visitors and told of the interest of the city in the development of the Eastbay.

C. W. Foy, head of the industrial department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, in response, traced the history of civilization through the progress made in transportation and praised the bridge committee as ably discharging the obligation Antioch has incurred through its opportunity to further civilization. Foy predicted a development of the delta region akin to the high productivity of the intensively cultivated areas of Europe.

Albert E. Carter, Oakland city commissioner, humorously cited the value of co-operation of communities as having been proved in the rainfall which began when the two groups met.

S. W. Green of the Isleton Chamber of Commerce, extended the greetings of his community, stressing the need for the merger of forces of all northern California communities for the good of all.

Howard Baxter, and William H. Mayhew of the Oakland chamber, emphasized the value of get acquainted tours. "Bobby" Robertson, of Oakland, entertained the party with Scotch songs and stories, all of which carried the keynote of friendly comingling of interests and effort.

The Oakland delegation said goodbye among the shouted reassurances of fellowship.

The marriage of Helen A. Anderson of Oakland avenue and Alfred W. Swanson of Madera took place in Modesto, December 2, 1923.

The young couple are making their home for the present with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Swanson in Kingsburg.

☆ ☆ ☆

Master Billy White, the young son of Mrs. Kathryn Brown White of Vernon Heights, will be host this evening to forty of his playmates. The ballroom of the White home is to be the scene of the party.

☆ ☆ ☆

The spacious clubhouse of the San Francisco Jockey club at the Tanforan track is to be the scene of the annual bachelors' ball. The invitational list will extend to this side of the bay and there will be a number of dinners preceding the ball on February 29.

Managing the ball this year are Brooks Walker, Cyril McNear, Alfred Hendrickson, Frank Kennedy, Howard Spreckels, Raymond George Montgomery.

Decorators' School For Blending Urged

Foremost of the objectives of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association of Alameda county for the coming year is the establishment of a school in polychroming, in which the members will take up the old European art of blending. It is stated by members of the association that this art is really the essence of home decoration.

The following newly elected officers took their places: President, Carl Friberg; first vice-president, A. Van Hearden; second vice-president, E. C. Thomas; secretary, Walter Blumert; assistant secretary, J. Hal Hunter; treasurer, Charles Sparwasser; statistician, N. McDonald; sergeant-at-arms, Chas. Gray.

Members of the association expressed the hope that, through the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies, the international convention of Master Painters and Decorators may be brought to Oakland in 1925.

Cork Mayor Absent Year, Unpaid, Resigns

CORK, Ireland, Jan. 26.—Lord Mayor Donald O'Callaghan has resigned. He is an ardent Republican, but has been absent from his official duties for a year, so the Cork city council recently decided to withhold his salary. O'Callaghan, in resigning, explained his absence, saying he had been occupied with work.

BOMBARDMENT OF TAMPICO BY REBEL GUNBOAT FEARED

Two American Destroyers in Port; Rebel Conspiracy to Seize Monterey Bared.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

TAMPICO, Jan. 26.—Two batteries of artillery are expected to arrive here today to defend this port against possible attack by rebel ships. This precautionary measure was decided upon following the reappearance of the insurgent gunboat Zaragoza off Tampico.

Two American destroyers arrived to join the cruiser Richmond not long after the Zaragoza had dropped her anchor.

The activities of federal troops in the northern sector are reported to have resulted in the capture of Tuxpam.

Federal forces have reoccupied Los Naranjos, an important oil field in the Huasteca district.

Train service between Tampico and Monterey has been resumed.

Nine bandits attacked and wounded the paymaster of the Transcontinental Oil Company, an American concern, near here. They robbed him of 3000 pesos.

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 26.—A conspiracy to turn the city of Monterey, Nueve Leon, over to the rebels was discovered by federal officers last night, according to a despatch from that city.

Lieutenant Colonel Morals, temporary commander of the Monterey garrison, a number of civil and military officials and several prominent business men were arrested, the despatch said.

VERA CRUZ, Jan. 26.—(By Radio via the Dallas News.)—The U. S. S. Omaha and six destroyers have arrived here. The commander of marine of Vera Cruz and other officials boarded the Omaha to pay a courtesy call on the commander.

The appearance of the vessels caused excitement among the people, who believed that the American warships would land troops.

The bodies of Captain Sparrow and the radio operators of the U. S. S. Tacoma are lying in state in the offices of the director of the naval school. A guard of honor is keeping vigil.

Noted Messenger Of U. S. Treasury Dies From Illness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — Richard Green is dead. Age and illness have had their way with the proud frame and sturdy will of the negro who for more than fifty years had served faithfully a long line of treasury secretaries as their confidential messenger.

Appointed to the department in 1871, Green has traveled throughout the United States and in Europe and South America with various secretaries and stationed outside the door of the treasury chief's office, his height and bearing have attracted the admiration of visitors.

A public reception in Green's honor was held on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary as a treasury employee, and was attended by former Secretaries Cortelyou, Gage, Glass, McAdoo, MacVeagh, Shaw and Houston. All spoke in his praise, but no compliment ever paid him could give him such lasting delight as the statement of Mr. Glass that he was "a Virginia gentleman."

AFTER AN OPERATION

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minn.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."—Mrs. JAMES WILKE, 933 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minnesota.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of fifty years of success among American women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

ADVICE ON INCOME TAX PROBLEMS

Innumerable avenues of information for checking up delinquents are furnished the bureau of internal revenue. One of these is the "information at source" provision of the revenue act. Under this provision report must be made by all persons, corporations and partnerships of payments of income to others during the year of $1000 or more. Information returns are carefully checked with the individual return of the taxpayer to whom such payments were made. Thousands of delinquent and additional taxes aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars have been discovered as the result of this audit.

The act requires report of payment of all "fixed and determinable income," such as wages, salaries, commissions, royalties, etc. The requirement is not limited to periodical payments, but a single payment of $1000 or more must be reported. A separate return of information for each employee whose salary or wage for 1923 was $1000 is required of employers. Payment for overtime, fees, commissions, bonuses, and the fair value of board and lodging furnished as part payment for services should be included.

Fraternal organizations and associations are required to report salaries paid officers. Banks are required to report interests paid or credited to a depositor if the total during the year equaled or exceeded $1000.

A separate report of each payment of $1000 or more is required on Form 1099. Form 1096, on which must be shown the number of separate returns serves as a letter of transmittal. The forms may be obtained at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. Collectors, however, are not authorized to receive information returns, which should be addressed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Sorting Section, Washington, D. C. The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1924.

BOOTLEG DREAM SHATTERED.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 26.—The popular conception of bootleggers, placing them as kings of finance, is all wrong, said Robert A. Kohloss, divisional prohibition agent in Denver. "Ninety per cent at least of bootleggers can't even pay their own fines when they get caught," Kohloss averred.

THIRTY DEAD IN MINE EXPLOSION CAUSED BY GAS

Eight Others Injured in Southern Illinois Coal Pit Horror.

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., Jan. 26.—Thirty workers were known to be dead today in "Little Egypt's" latest mine horror. Twenty-eight identified bodies and two unidentified have been recovered. Two men are missing and eight badly injured. This is the toll of an explosion of mine gas yesterday afternoon in the East Side mine of the Creerer Coal company here.

Most of the dead were killed by suffocation, as gas flooded two or three entries of the workings. The bodies were found in contorted attitudes with watersoaked coats about the faces. The injured are suffering from burns and gas.

Two hundred and ninety of the 350 men in the mine when the explosion occurred dashed to the main entry and were lifted the 335 feet to the surface in safety. Quickly word spread that 60 were still missing. A hundred veteran miners volunteered to form rescue squads to go after their comrades and summoners were despatched for the Herrin, Johnston City and Derton mine rescue teams.

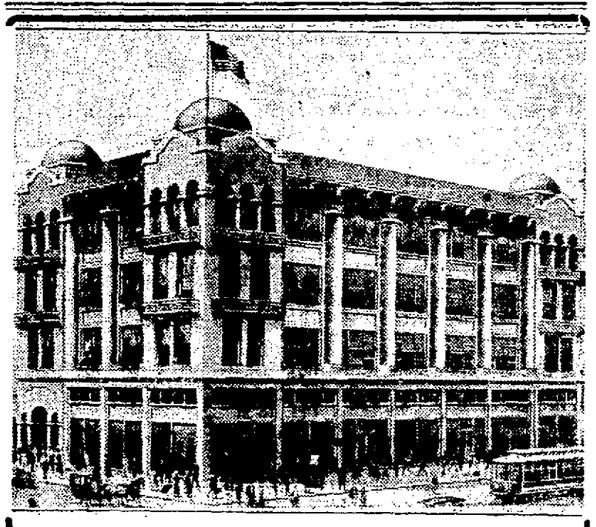
About dark, 20 dead and three injured were brought to the surface. They had been near the main entry.

It was the most disastrous mine accident since 1918, when the Roxahon mine calimed 30 in an explosion.

The bodies of Herbert McCullough, mine manager, and Jesse Ford, "face boss," were among the first to be identified.

SEVERAL HURT IN WRECK.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 26.—Several passengers were injured last night when Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 47, en route from Cincinnati to Parkersburg, W. Va., struck a defective switch at New Vienna, Ohio, derailing the engine and three cars.



POLYTECHNIC BUSINESS COLLEGE
Thirteenth and Madison Streets, Oakland

Half-Month Tuition Free

In order to demonstrate the superiority of the NEW ROWE SHORTHAND SYSTEM, the Polytechnic Business College is giving one-half month's tuition free.

This new system has won great fame in the east where it has been adopted in many colleges and has produced wonderful results. After twenty-five years' experience in training stenographers we feel warranted in saying the Rowe System is the easiest—most legible—most efficient and most satisfactory system of rapid writing yet devised for stenographers. We want you to give it a fair trial.

It will cost you nothing to investigate. We want you to see for yourself just how easily it can be learned and how rapidly you can advance in this new system. You will be under no obligation to continue longer than two weeks if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

This Pretty Girl Who Defies Age Discloses Great Beauty Secret

Says It's Nothing More Than Old Fashioned Ordinary Buttermilk in the Form of a Wonderful Cream—Is Guaranteed by All Good Drug and Department Stores.

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines round the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today at your toilet goods counter with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money should you be dissatisfied.—Advertisement.

BIBLE VERDICT ROUSES RABBI TO UTTER DEFI

Do Teachers Consider Genesis Fact or Fiction? Coffee Asks of Court.

Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee is the first of the Oakland clergy to lend his voice in protest to the decision of the Supreme Court permitting the various versions of the Bible and the great religious works of other faiths to be placed in the libraries of public schools. He made his protest in a sermon at Temple Sinai.

Rabbi Coffee agrees that it is a fine liberal attitude on the part of the court which permits the teachings of all creeds to stand side by side on the same shelf, but he doubts if the same liberality will obtain in the practical use of the theological works in schools.

Further challenge to the court is made in the statement that the public school teachers are not trained to teach the Bible. In this connection Rabbi Coffee asks whether instructors should consider the first chapter of Genesis fact or fiction, whether Joshua actually commanded the sun to stand still, or if that was just a poetic expression, or whether to deny the theory of evolution or accept the findings of science.

"The schools of America should instruct children in educational truths and ignore that topic which has been the cause of untold misery for the past eighteen centuries, said Rabbi Coffee. "Bringing the Bible into the public schools immediately raises theological and religious differences."

CLEARED OF FRAUD.

PARKBURG, W. Va., Jan. 25.—A verdict of not guilty by direction of Judge D. Lawrence Groner was returned by a jury last night in federal court in the harness conspiracy case against E. C. Noted Singer Gives Program Of Old Songs

Schumann-Heink's Softer Notes Still Carry Their Rich Quality.

Madame Schumann-Heink's personality won the audience which crowded the Auditorium Theater last night to hear the popular contralto sing. Madame Schumann-Heink is no longer young. She admits to 63 years, and her voice showed the effects of her years, although to a surprisingly slight extent. Her softer notes still carry the rich liquid quality that won her fame as an operatic singer a score of years ago, but her louder tones have a harshness that even her great skill cannot entirely cover. She tired more quickly too—although she sang a long program.

For her first group she sang the Armida Aria from "Rinaldo" by Handel, the Erda scene from Wagner's "Rheingold," Brangaena's Call from "Tristan and Isolda" by Wagner and "Die Allmacht" by Schubert. As an encore she sang "Stille Wie Die Nacht." In her second group she sang "Fruhlingsfahrt" and "Widmung" by Schuman, "Sapphische Ode" and "Six Gypsy Songs" by Brahms and "Gute Nacht" by Franz. Her two encores for this group were sung by request, "Danny Boy" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka." The last group included "Have You Seen Him in France?" by Ward Stephens, "There is no Death," by O'Hara, "Sweetheart," by Humphrey Stewart, "Someone Worth While," by Ward Stephens, and "Bolero" (Leggiero invisible), by L. Arditi. Her single encore for this was the old hymn which she herself made famous, "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht."

Madame Schumann-Heink has lost none of her ability in enunciation which makes her rendition so marvelously clear and understandable. If there was something lacking in the control of her tone quality over all the range, it was forgiven quickly by an audience which remembered twenty years of Schumann-Heink.

Her program was broken by a group of violin numbers, including "Prelude and Allegro" by Pugnani-Kreisler, "Tambourin Chinois" by Kreisler, "Ave Maria" by Schubert-Wilhelmj, and "La Ronda des Lutins" by Bazzini, played by Florence Hardeman. Unfortunately her performance suffered somewhat by coming the night after the great Heifetz, who played "La Ronde des Lutins" as only Heifetz can. Miss Hardeman's expression is unusually good, but her bowing, especially her bouncing bow, could be improved. She accompanied Madame Schumann-Heink in one of her encores.

Katherine Hoffman accompanied both Madame Schumann-Heink and Miss Hardemann.

Theater Party For Tribune's Carrier Chiefs

Young Business Men to See Program at State After Dinner, Jan. 28.

More than 90 TRIBUNE carriers, who are known as Carrier-Captains and who are the leading boys at each corner where The TRIBUNE bundles are distributed, will attend a special theater party and banquet arranged for them Monday evening, January 28. Before the theater party, which will be held at the State theater, the young business men will gather at the Waffle Kitchen, where they will be served a splendid supper. They will be accompanied by those in charge of the various activities pertaining to the juvenile and circulation department, and their district managers, and will be given talks on "Service and Salesmanship" during the meal.

J. E. Johnson, assistant manager of the State Theater, has arranged with The TRIBUNE for the theater party and promises the boys a fine night's entertainment. The feature picture, which starts Sunday, January 27, entitled "The Exiles," will be witnessed by the young guests. It is adapted from the story of that name written by Richard Harding Davis.

John Gilbert interprets the role of Holcombe, the super-cultured man, who is a lawyer in New York. Finding himself overworked, he is ordered to Tangiers, Africa, by his physician. In Tangiers the staid business man finds his entire conception of life changed.

Where people were formerly regarded as subjects to be inoculated by the law's force, they are now beheld in the light of human understanding. He meets a woman whom he had condemned before a court in New York. She saves his life in a thrilling rescue and he discovers love, an emotion he had never taken cognizance of.

A well-balanced vaudeville program will be presented in conjunction with "The Exiles," headed by that Continental act de luxe, "The Philmers."

Pioneer Daughter of State Succumbs

Mrs. Ella F. Merchant, daughter of an early settler in Oakland and well-known in women's clubs, died last night following a brief illness at her home, 2923 Webster street. She is survived by two daughters prominent in musical circles, Miss Inez L. Merchant and Miss Leona M. Merchant. Mrs. Merchant was a member of the Oakland club and of the Pioneers of California.

A daughter of the late George H. Fogg, one of the first judges of Oakland, Mrs. Merchant was born in Oakland. Her father crossed the plains in '49. She was 68 years old. Upon completing her education she taught school until her marriage to the late Eben W. Merchant, a hotel proprietor.

BOOTLEGGER KING TAKEN TO PRISON IN PRIVATE CAR

George Remus, With 2 Years to Serve, Misses Valet at Atlanta.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 26.—Walls of the Atlanta federal penitentiary last night housed George Remus, convicted bootleg king of the Middle West, and eleven of his associates.

Royalty was recognized by fellow prisoners, for when Remus entered the prison late yesterday, coming direct here from Cincinnati on board a private car, he was given an ovation by the silent waving of arms through grated windows to the full extent of prison rules.

The Cincinnati millionaire started service of a two-year sentence for having conspired to violate the Volstead act. He also must pay a fine of $10,000 and at the termination of his sentence, will serve one year in a state prison in Ohio.

Flashy diamonds, ultra-modern clothes, walking sticks and spats of the bootleg king gave way to the wool and cotton grey uniform of the penitentiary.

"I'm reconciled to my fate, but, Oh, how I miss my valet," declared the bootleg king as prison garments were given him.

Pastor To Speak On Enthusiasm

"The Need for a Steady Enthusiasm" will be the subject of Dr. Edward C. Phillco's sermon tomorrow morning at the Centennial Presbyterian church. Referring to this sermon, Dr. Phillco says:

"This will be the first sermon in a series on the Book of Judges. Israel began well in the work of subduing the Land of Promise, but their enthusiasm cooled, they failed to do thorough work, and a period of frightful confusion and anarchy followed. The warning is obvious—we need an enthusiasm that endures."

The evening sermon topic will be "The Elder Brother." Dr. Phillco said regarding this sermon: "Much has been said about the Prodigal Son, but comparatively little notice seems to be taken of the brother who stayed at home and worked. This sermon will be devoted to him. Had he any reason for his action? Has he any counterparts among us now? What will be the result if we follow his example?"

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, when the study of the evening will be Acts 24 to 26.

NEW SEMESTER OF RELIGIOUS SCHOOL OPENS

Beginning next Tuesday evening at the First Christian church the Community Training School of Religious Education opens its spring semester.

The Community Training school developed through the need of help to prepare teachers for the week day church schools. The Alameda County Sunday School Council of Religious Education will open its training school next Tuesday to continue for ten weeks.

The faculty includes Prof. C. C. McCown, Pacific School of Religion; Prof. J. W. Groves, department of education, University of California; Mrs. Herbert F. Evans, primary superintendent, Berkeley First Baptist church; Rev. Lloyd J. B. Taber, director of religious education, First M. E. church, Oakland; Rev. Charles L. Duncan, director of religious education, Presbyterian churches of Northern California; Rev. George W. Phillips, pastor Tenth Avenue Baptist church; Rev. Ralph C. Waddell, acting pastor and director of religious education, First Congregational church, Oakland.

British Bible Expositor Opens Lecture Series

Handel Program First Presbyterian Feature

Dr. George Campbell Morgan opens a notable series of addresses tomorrow morning at the First M. E. church, Oakland. The British Bible expositor will continue his addresses afternoons and evenings throughout the week, including Saturday.

Special music featuring Handel's incomparable church compositions will be rendered tomorrow night at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Silsley will speak on the theme "Is Christ Coming Again?"

First Presbyterian.

A special Handel musical night will feature the evening program at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow. Dr. Frank M. Silsley has for his subject, "Is Christ Coming Again?" (Fundamentalists vs. Modernists)

Dr. Silsley will discuss the following questions: Why do Robert E. Speer, F. B. Meyer and other religious leaders believe in the second coming of Christ, while Dr. Van Dyke, and Shailer Matthews and Glenn Frank and others do not have sympathy with the promise? Why do the Fundamentalists believe that Jesus is coming personally and visibly while the Modernists believe that He is coming spiritually? Why do Fundamentalists believe that Christ at His return will set up a visible kingdom, while the Modernists believe that Christ's coming is simply Christianizing of personal, social and national life? Was Christ clear-headed or under illusion when He prophesied His coming again? Is there any significance in the more than 300 Bible references to Christ's second coming? What is the use of His coming, if He is to come? What will be the signs of His coming"

The anthems by George Frederick Handel, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," "Worthy Is the Lamb That Was Slain," (The Messiah) "O Lovely Peace," (Duet for soprano and alto voices) "We Worship God and God Alone" and "Oh! Never Bow We Down to the Rude Stock or Sculptured Stone" will be given by the Temple choir under the direction of Walter B. Kennedy. Mrs. Zilpha Ruggles Jenkins will give a soprano solo, "Angels, Ever Bright and Fair." The evening program will close with Handel's "Hallelujah" from The Messiah.

At the morning service Dr. Silsley has for his topic "The Conqueror on the White Horse."

B. Y. P. U. Notes

Bethany Baptist Young People in the Allendale district are very much alive and are starting this year with a membership contest with Mrs. Harold Williamson and Stanley Paul as the two captains. They recently held a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gudnason on Thirty-fifth avenue and report a most enjoyable time.

The Baraca and Philathea classes of the First Baptist church are being entertained this evening at the home of Finfield Brace in Alameda and plans are made for a crowd of about 60 young people. The Intermediates will also have a party this evening at the J. W. Taylor home on Pacific avenue, Piedmont.

Tenth Ave. Baptist

Rev. Theodore Fieldbrave, a Hindu orator, will be the speaker at the Tenth Avenue Baptist church at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow evening. His subject will be "Can India Teach Us Anything?"

Fieldbrave appears in Oakland at an opportune time, Dr. Phillips, pastor of the church, points out, as classes are being formed at this time for a School of Missions in which "Building With India" will be one of the most popular courses under Dr. Carlson as leader. The director of the school already has courses and instructors for groups on India, Japan, South America and Americanization, as well as a general course by the pastor, Dr. George Phillips, on "The Missionary Message of the Bible." Classes will start February 6, at 7:15 p. m. to run for six consecutive Wednesday evenings.

Advent Episcopal

"The Child—A Clinical Study of Characteristics" will be the theme of Rev. Paul Little, rector of Advent Episcopal church at tomorrow morning's service. Dr. Little has been a student of child psychology for years. Tomorrow's is the third of a series of five lectures. On February 3, his subject will be "The Child—His Religion."

Dr. Little will have for his 7:30 subject "Religious Foolishness." The choir, augmented by boys' voices, will render music at both services.

Christian Community To Be Topic

Continuing the series of sermons on the teachings of Jesus, Rev. Lloyd B. Thomas will speak tomorrow on the organization of the Christian community, and the character of citizens of the Kingdom of God, at Trinity church, Telegraph avenue and Twenty-ninth street, at 11 a. m. The theme will be "The Formation of Christ's Kingdom." Out of the Gospel record will be illustrated the kind of people who were gathered together in the groups which surrounded and followed Jesus, and who were trained by Him to carry on His work. At 7:45 p. m. the subject will be, "The Character of Christian Citizenship." Again Jesus' teaching will be the basis for a description of the qualities which fit a person for membership in the Kingdom of God.

Both of these themes are closely connected with such matters as the Community Chest, of the Bok peace plan, as well as with the affairs of people's private life. These sermons will try to make the relation clear.

A week-day church school has been started at Trinity church, which meets on Friday at 3:45 p. m. It opened on January 18, with an enrollment of twenty-five. Three teachers are on the staff: the rector, Rev. Lloyd B. Thomas, Miss Bessie Day, from the School for Christian service, Berkeley, and Miss Cathryn Hanson. The courses taught will be the same as those used at the Sunday session of the school. Children who are not connected with the Episcopal church, but whose parents wish them to receive some Bible instruction, will be welcome at the school.

Says Ministers Should Attend As Worshippers

"EVERY minister should be sentenced to attend church as a worshipper once a month," was the suggestion made by Robert F. Leavens, minister of the Berkeley Unitarian church, in discussing his sermon subject for tomorrow. His own experiences in visiting churches will be embodied in his picture of the "Ideal church." He will not describe any institution known to be in existence, but will suggest the ideal all worshippers would like to see realized—a composite of features from many existing churches.

Revival Day Is Featured With Music

Tomorrow's services at the Temple Baptist Church, Thirteenth and Market streets, will be devoted to a special revival day with the messages in the morning, afternoon and evening brought by Rev. Charles Ross, pastor, and Miss Mary F. Ayers, evangelist from Australia, while the choir and solo numbers will be under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Isenberger of San Jose. During the past three weeks these services conducted daily have been attended by hundreds of the followers of the full gospel, it is reported.

The special revival services tomorrow will be at 11, 3 and 7:45.

The Mistake of the Messenger

A company commander of one of the colored regiments serving in France during the big war brought his men to a position in the first-line trenches during the advance through the Argonne forest. Presently it dawned upon him that his outfit had lost contact with the supporting forces on the left. It was necessary to re-establish liaison. He beckoned to him a strapping black private and bade the latter carry the word to the main body of troops. The prospect for the messenger was not a pleasant one. He must cross a distance of 200 yards in the open under fire of enemy sharp-shooters.

"I don't need to tell you," counseled the captain, "that the Germans will try to wing you. If you run in a straight line they're likely to get you, but if you zigzag I don't believe they can hit you. Good luck to you."

Late that evening, the Germans having fallen back, the captain found his messenger in a forward dressing station. The latter was awaiting removal to a field hospital. He had been punctured, painfully but not seriously, in three separate places, by three separate bullets. The commander stooped down by the wounded man:

"I'm glad to see you alive," he said, "but sorry to find you shot up this way. Why didn't you zigzag as I told you to do?"

"Cap'n', suh, dat's percisely whut I did do," answered the soldier. "But I rekin' de trouble wuz dat I zigged w'en I should a' been zaggin."

POOR COMPANY.

A man—
I've known for quite awhile—
Without a doubt was somewhat late—
The day they passed out common sense—
And so he had to take the kind that rattles—
One night found himself all alone—
Beneath the roof of his own home—
The rooms were cheerful—lounging chairs—
Held forth to him their cushioned arms—
As if to say—"Come take a book—
And here before this cozy fire—
Let your mind ramble with some sage—
Of long ago—
And learn the peace that comes to those—
Who seek to know—
The wisdom of the centuries"—
But he was of the untamed tribe—
Who nightly haunt the tinsel paths—
Until his nerves were jumping—
He never thought that when his heart—
Too vigorously was bumping—
That it was too much frivolity—
That made it go—
Until his doctor told him so—
So he resolved to cut it out—
And every habit put to rout—
That held him slave in folly's arms—
But as he walked the rich-draped rooms—
Redolent with the sweet perfumes—
Of many flowers—
He paused and plucked one with a smile—
Inhaled its perfume for awhile—
Then cast it from him—
For it bought scenes he would forget—
Then with a most dejected look—
From off a shelf he took a book—
And tried to read a minute—
But with his mind far far away—
He found no thoughts within it—
To hold him for a breathing spell—
He started up the phonograph—
Then with a short and sneering laugh—
He turned it off—
A cut got in his moody way—
It came to consciousness next day—
He played awhile with his bull-pup—
Then gave it up—
Around him there was everything—
Man might enjoy—
But in his jaundiced mind these things—
Seemed to annoy—
The wisdom of the world was his—
If he but read—
But all the brains he ever had—
Had gone to seed—
Life to him meant excitement—
So caged there like a jungle lion—
He paced the room—
Not sensing that his actions meant—
An early doom—
The silence is to shallow men—
poor company.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? By Mildred Marshall

STELLA.

One of the most curious cases of interchangeable names is that of Stella, signifying star, which is equivalent to Esther. Its origin is shrouded in mysterious legend and not easy to ascertain, but, penetrating very far into the past, it is found that the reigning wife of Xerxes was Amestria, daughter of an Achaemenian noble, who might well have been the Vashti of old legend; the fair daughter of the tribe of Benjamin whose royalty ensured her people's safety, was Hadassah in her own tongue, also known as Atossa and finally as Aster. Combined with the Latin stella, meaning star, it gave rise to the modern estrella, star, which the Romans call Esthera and Hestera.

So in England there arose Esther, Hester, and Hetty. In France, Esther came into vogue in the days of Racine, when the great tragedian wrote a sacred drama, acted by the young ladies of St. Cyr, and chose the old legend for her subject as a compliment to Mme. de Maintenon. Esther preferred before the discarded Vashti, who was Mme. de Montespan. Esther straightway became a popular feminine name in France. Estelle was adopted simultaneously, but its use was confined more to the stage.

In England, Esther became famous since it was borne by two ladies beloved of Dean Swift: Esther Johnson and Esther Vanhomrigh, one of whom he called by the Latin equivalent. Stella, and the other by the generic term for our gorgeous butterflies, Vanessa.

Estrella was the heroine of a Spanish pastoral and Abbe Florian borrowed it for his theatrical shepherdess. Sir Philip Sidney wrote a sonnet to Stella which runs:

"O happy Thames that did my Stella bear;
I saw myself with many a smiling line
Upon thy cheerful face, joy's livery wear
While those fair planets on thy streams did shine.
The boat for joy could not to dance forbear
While wanton winds, with beauties so divine
Ravished, stood not till in her golden hair
They did themselves (O sweet!) with pleasure tine."

Stella's birthstone is the lapis lazuli, the mysterious blue gem flecked with gold that dispels melancholy and frees the blood of fever, according to old superstition. Friday is her lucky day and 7 her lucky number.

The Australian Lad Who Has Rambled in All Parts of World

THE GIRL OF 32 AND MARRIAGEABLE AGES

Motives and Their Relation to Actions Of Human Family

If you don't believe this gang is the friendliest in the world, just follow our column for a week or two. There never has been a plea printed that hasn't been answered generously. L. H. of Berkeley asked our humble opinion as to whether thirty-two was too old to think of marriage and a home, and we came back with cheers that it WAS NOT.

Dear Jerry:

I have just about got through reading your columns and I have found that Miss L. H. of Berkeley has explained to you some of her family troubles, but I do not know why she should worry so much about her age, for when the boys choose their lovers they do not mind their ages. But here goes an answer to her letter to you.

Well, Jerry, I will give you just a little of my doings since I discovered that this world was made round to go around for us all. I am a young man, her age, 32 years, but I also stand my age pretty good.

Being born in the middle of western Australia, on a cattle and ostrich ranch, some 200 miles from the nearest school, it was under these circumstances that all, or whatever education I got, was received around our table at meal time, because it was impossible to put me in school. So I am going to say that I have never attended school in all my life, neither have I received education from anyone, only what I picked up myself. So please do not blame me for the lack of education which you can discover in this letter to Miss L. H.

But I suppose the following will apprise you of the things that have fallen my way since childhood.

Well, when I was ten years old and full of mischief, also adventure, I happened to be riding a small ostrich around the home ranch when my Dad captured me and gave me such a terrible beating that to this day, I have never forgotten. My Dad got me so scared that day that I ran away from home immediately he released his hold on me, and from that day to this I have neither seen or heard from my family. The day he finished beating me, which lasted all day, I lassoed a Shetland pony which we had, mounted him and drove him towards the nearest town, sold the pony and spent the remainder of the month and the money there. At the time the money was finished, I was sleeping aboard a wind jammer which by accident sailed the following day with me aboard as a stowaway, at 10 years of age.

I have since visited every country and larger city throughout the whole world.

I was in the present European war from August 10, 1914, to November, 1919, was wounded eleven times and captured a prisoner by the Germans, I was a lead ticket for the Germans because I broke out of two prison camps, was captured, then transferred to another officers' camp just outside Berlin, but my third attempt was successful. I suffered much for my escape, because my prison guard stabbed me with a dagger. It went through my left arm and penetrated my chest, but what happened to him is not worth repeating because he is no more.

I was awarded five bravery medals for all my trouble. But please remember that I was a U. S. fully pledged citizen in 1910, but being in Europe in 1914 on vacation when the war started I joined there. I looked for more adventure by joining the Australian army. I have since gotten my full papers again and being just by myself, I have made good use of everything.

I was wounded so badly I can not dance away my leisure hours, but I get much joy in making friends with the little ones and the poor children. I belong to two organizations who care for poor children. I also took a party of poor children from the Blue Bird last Christmas, but on visiting these babies I found two more children belonging to another woman in the same home, so I picked two and three together and said to myself, the Lord provided. I am rewarded in this as God someway or other, for ever I get much joy when people are happy around me, for I am good company, but that's nothing, but that does not worry me at all.

So as Miss L. H. needs babies around her, why not ask the Blue Bird for further information. I am only a stranger myself in Berkeley, but you would be surprised to know of how many friends, men, I have, although I do not do any dancing. But I like hiking and horseback riding also hunting.

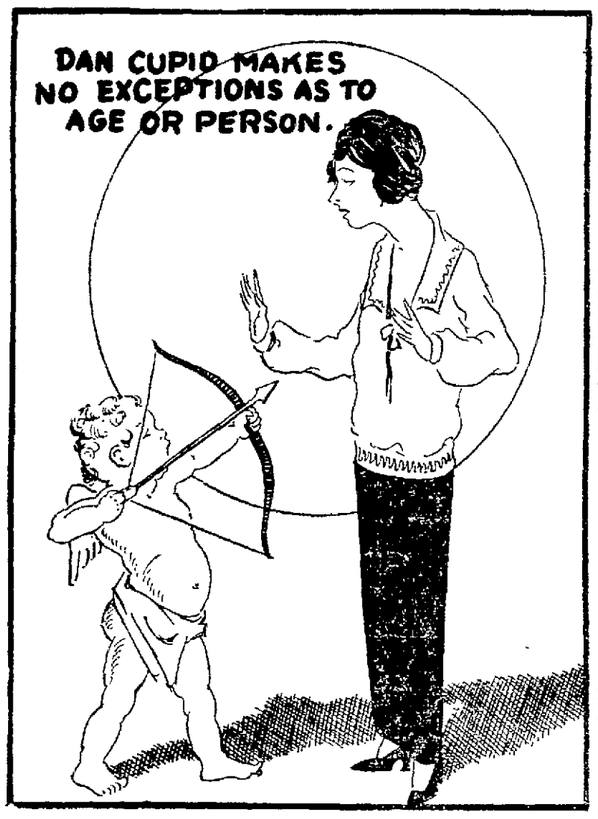
Well, Jerry and Miss L. H., I am sorry for you both. Poor Jerry will have to read my letter, wh, it will be a bigger job to her than what it seems to me to write it, but I have had no education so I am sure you will excuse my spelling, also my grammar. But I should like Miss L. H. of Berkeley to read it, through the Geraldine column, because it might help her along a little. I have had experiences practically the same as hers, but my help was given to little strangers who were in need at Christmas.

This was my first Christmas around Berkeley so I did not do bad in making friends with those little babies, for I made them happy, and also promised to call again.

Here's good luck to you both for the year 1924, and may Miss L. H. meet many friends.

JIMMY JONES.

You're a wonder, Friend, and I, for one at least, am glad that you wrote. I am sending your letter to the Berkeley GIRL.



The glad hand was extended by more than one friendly spirit in the Eastbay.

Dear Jerry:

Just pulled my feet out of the oven where I had them drying, after a hard day's work in the rain, and as I read your column every day, I took a notion to get in on some of the gang's arguments and, if I may, I would like to become a member by reason of my monthly six bits or whatever it is the paper costs.

Am going to write a few lines to L. H. of Berkeley who wonders if 32 is too old to get married. I'll say not, and from my own personal experience I would say that she should and probably will, make some man a better wife now than she would if she were really 25 as she says she looks. I can readily sympathize with her, if she has no real friends or pals, as I put in two years here in Oakland before I got acquainted with anyone and then I had to learn to dance.

Jerry, if L. H. really wants to meet someone that is a gentleman at all times, and let the future take care of itself, you might send her my name and address.

I am a carpenter and not like the paper hanger who was always out of work on account of strikes or lumbago. Have my own machine and live with my mother. Am 37 years old, but don't "act like it," as we all get old soon enough. If this meets with your approval, pass it on to L. H. If not, put it in the basket and accept my thanks for the time you spent reading same.

Yours for good all th time,
Sincerely,
L. O. R.

I'll begin to feel like a cooing dove, or some other domestic bird of prey, in about another minute. Playing Cupid is very dangerous business—the disappointed one might come huntin' and make me closely resemble a sieve. However, here's to love and romance.

Gang, don't you think that motives count? The same thing can be done by two different persons—one with a motive the best in the world, and the other, to "put something across." That is why I can't answer the following letter:

Dear Jerry:

If you were engaged to a girl who had former sweethearts; one especially, that she had broken with several months ago, and this special one, without warning and supposedly as a peace offering, should send her a valuable, useful household article, presumably as a Christmas present, what do you think she should do, considering everything in general and myself in particular.

Also, should she privately entertain her former sweethearts?

ANXIOUS.

You ought to know her better than I do, Brother—you're going to marry her, MAYBE. Is she putting one over on you, or is she just a frank, friendly girl who is able to spend an evening with a former "sweetheart" without the least taint of being untrue to you?

It seems to me that the answer lies there. HER MOTIVE. If she is "pulling the other guy's leg," while still hanging on to a good thing—YOU—you'd better bid her a fond farewell, for you'll find no happiness with her. You see, I don't know her. If she really loves you, she'll be as jealous of YOUR self respect as you'd be of hers. You wouldn't make her look neglected or pitiful, by giving presents and calling on former sweethearts, would you? If she loves you, my friend, she won't do it to you, either.

Here is a mutual admiration society started.

My dearest Geraldine:

I am also a follower of your column in The TRIBUNE and when reading your page, feel quite at home. I read Stan's letter. More power to you, Stan. You sure practice what you preach.

I surely agree with his opinions of love. It is true that a girl's mother should know what her friends are and what company she keeps. I believe that Phil and Stan would make a good pair. I wonder if Stan got his opinions from Geraldine's page. Sure sounds like Jerry's good advice. I'm glad that Stan realizes that being a true friend has got "mushy love" beat forty ways and back again. I think we all have our one case of "puppy love" some time or other, but it isn't everyone who realizes it while they are in it. But I guess Stan is one who did.

Jerry, I enjoy reading your page. It is the first thing I grab when The TRIBUNE comes.

With love,
AL.

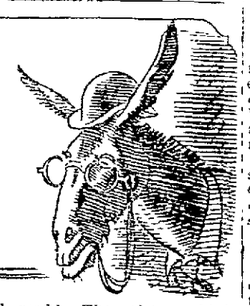
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster



THE studious looking man in the checkered suit entered the library every afternoon at 2 o'clock, walked past Miss Price, librarian, without seeing her, and made his way to the files in the reference room. There was something in the studied way he ignored her and something in the glance she leveled at his retreating form, to cause speculation. Ed Wylie, during two weeks of convalescence he spent in the reading room, scented a story.

The man was middle-aged and precise. Always he stood in front of one set of shelves or another, pawing idly at the titles, and invariably he removed a large number of books that he might place them back, out of order. Ed saw the exasperated expression on the librarian's face and wondered why she did not protest.

"If I had done that," he told himself, "she would have called me down." Then he noticed the two never exchanged a word. When the man wished a book from the stacks he shoved a slip on her desk. Ed saw her lips tighten, watched her march off to fill his order, and thought he detected something of defiance in the manner with which she placed the book on the counter. Invariably the man gave the book but a few moments of attention, and then returned it.

"It is as if they had a bet up on which would speak first," Ed decided. "I'm going to find out what is the matter." So he started in to cultivate the acquaintance of the man in the checkered suit.

"I don't know why I should tell it to you," the man said one day as they sat on a bench outside on the library lawn, "but it will be a relief, anyway, not to have it all to myself." He glanced over his shoulder at the library and lowered his voice as if fearing she might be able to hear through brick and stone.

"You see we went together, May and I. Were going to get married and—well, we're both stubborn as a pair of mules. Somehow things got mixed. We quarreled and, before we knew it, the status of our engagement was in doubt. Each waited for the other to apologize or to mention the approaching wedding, sort of let on it was all right. I wouldn't do it and she wouldn't. It became impossible and unbearable. Then she wouldn't talk to me at all, made up her mind I would have to speak first and I said I'd be blamed if I would." The man grinned sheepishly. "Sounds foolish, doesn't it, but that is the way it stands yet, after six years."

"Yes, but the books? Why do you mix them up? Just to tantalize her?"

The man shook his head. "There's a scheme. You see, I won't surrender but I go part way. I fix the title letters to spell messages and hope she will figure it out." He sighed. "Don't think she does though. Then I look in the catalogues for all the books suggesting matrimony, scan their titles, and write a request for them on the slip. She knows what I mean but she never lets on. It's a hard pan and disheartening. What would you do?"

"Do? I would go right up there now and say I'm to forsake an obstinate old mule. The idea of wasting six years because of pure headedness!"

The man considered the suggestion.

"But I couldn't surrender," he repeated. "I'll go half way, maybe two-thirds but I have my pride to think of." He left him.

The next day Ed decided to take part in the comedy. The man was at the desk handing in a slip which Ed appropriated.

Miss Price," he said, "this gentleman was telling me about a book called 'The Confessions of a Mule', [illegible] could you get it for us?"

The librarian looked at Ed as if to read his thoughts. Then she smiled grimly. "I have no such book," she said, "but this gentleman should be an authority on the subject."

The man in the checkered suit was far from being offended. He accepted the fact that he was included in the remark as a sign of encouragement and beamed with joy at hearing the voice of his beloved. After having waited six years he would delay no longer because of the presence of Ed.

"May," he said, "let's call it quits."

"Will," she replied, "I'll be glad to."

As Ed moved off he heard her say, "I'll be all the happier, dear, because you spoke first."

WAYS THAT ARE WARY

A STORY OF CHINESE INTRIGUE

by Lemuel De Bra

CHAPTER XXI.

All this Ah Chee related to her father. Soo Wang appeared much excited. There was a long exchange of rapid Cantonese. When Soo Wang finished, he was pounding the table with both fists and sputtering in a most undignified manner.

"My father says to tell you that someone has tricked him." Ah Chee announced calmly. "Yesterday afternoon he sold his entire stock of Ng Ka Py."

"What! Who bought it?"

"A broker named Gerhart."

Sutherland stared. "I don't understand that. I know positively that Gerhart had no inkling of this new order yesterday. He was as much surprised this morning as the rest of us. How much did he pay a case?"

"He didn't buy it outright. He paid five hundred dollars cash for an option tying up father's entire stock of Ng Ka Py for thirty days. He offered such a good price per case that father, thinking he could readily withdraw more from the Customs warehouse, signed the option."

"Looks queer, Miss Soo! Ask your father if I may see that option."

Soo Wang, in answer to Ah Chee, shouted something in angry Cantonese and waved toward the store. Ah Chee left. When she returned, she handed Sutherland a folded paper.

If there's anything worse'n trvin' t' hurry out of acrowded day coach th' follerin' behind a dyspepic in a steam table cafeteria. Wouldn' it be great if people wuz known for what they are instead of what they belong to?

Copyright National Newspaper Service.

"The man who tied your father up with this will make a nice fortune overnight," said the broker. "I'd like to know how he knew about this order; for unless he knew of it, he wouldn't be likely to load on so much stuff as your father has in stock. Well, this looks like Gerhart's signature. And here! What's this, Miss Soo? Probably the name of the principal, but it's written in Chinese, the same as Soo Wang's."

Ah Chee took the [illegible] glanced at it, and an astounded expression swept over her face. Slowly she laid the paper on the desk beneath her father's eyes.

Soo Wang put a finger on the Chinese characters at the bottom of the option, and shouted:

"Lee Quan!"

"Who is Lee Quan?" asked Sutherland.

"He is just a young man, but he is very bright," replied Ah Chee, her eyes shining.

"I'll say he's bright, all right!" laughed the broker. "He'll make a barrel of money. What business is he in?"

"He is not in business. He is an artist."

"An artist! What does an artist want with all this Ng Ka Py? Has he ever bought any from you before?"

"Father says he has not; but there isn't anything dishonest about this, is there?"

"Not in the least. It's a square business proposition. Wish I was in on it myself. But the funny thing is this: how did it happen that Lee Quan goes to the biggest importer in Chinatown only a few hours before this prohibitory order and ties up Soo Wang's entire stock?"

Ah Chee was beaming over her father's peacock fan.

"I'm sure I don't know, sir; but Mr. Lee has many influential friends among the Americans. Everybody likes him. Some day he will be a very famous Chinese painter. But father is asking if there is any way he can break this contract?"

Sutherland's reply was emphatic. "Not a chance! Lee Quan has your father tied hand and foot!"

Twenty minutes later Soo Wang, too disturbed to eat, gulped several bowls of steaming hot tea, put on his street slippers, and exchanged his study cap for one of plain black.

"Daughter," he said, "many a trapped animal has escaped by leaving its gnawed-off foot in the steel. Well, I am going to the House of Morning Twilight to see Lee Quan. I shall ask his price to release me from this hateful paper. With good luck I may yet save my face as a maker of bargains."

"Lee Quan is very young and knows nothing of business," Ah Chee taunted him, laughing. "You should—"

But Soo Wang had gone, slamming the door behind him. Ah Chee, knowing she would have to remain in the store until her father returned, drew back her sleeve and looked at her watch. It was ten o'clock.

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE APPEAL MADGE MADE TO MOTHER GRAHAM'S PATIENCE.

The eyes of the little children in the kitchen of the house across the road were suddenly voracious at Katie's description of the food she meant to bring them. It was just such a look as one sees in the eyes of hungry puppies, and I turned swiftly to my little maid, who was already at the door.

"Is there any way I can help you, Katie?"

"No, ma'am!" Katie's answer was most emphatic. "You stay right here. Ven I in hurry I vant nobody help, only Jeem to carry tings."

She closed the door on her last words and Katherine, with her eyes on the moaning white-faced baby spoke again impatiently:

"These older children can stand it, but this baby needs its mother right away. What are you going to do?"

I turned to the young officer who scratched his head helplessly at Katherine's words. That he was as sorry for the children as we were, I could readily see, but he was too young and inexperienced to have any resourcefulness in the matter.

"Where did the other officer take the woman?" I asked.

"Down the Sag," he answered, "to the J. P. I suppose he sent her and her husband over to the jail."

Katherine looked at me worriedly.

"I don't like to take this baby out into the cold air," she said with professional concern. "It hasn't sufficient clothing, and it is running a temperature. But——"

"I'll go after the mother," I said promptly.

MOTHER GRAHAM ANNOYED.

"I am sure I can get her home for awhile, even if I have to take her back again."

"I'll bank on you," Katherine said quietly. "And when Katie comes over with the food for these children will you also send me these things?" She enumerated a number of articles which meant comfort for the ailing infant.

"Of course," I promised, and hurried out of the house and back to my own home.

My mother-in-law met me at the door, her eyes angrily snapping with baffled curiosity.

"Whatever is going on over there?" she asked acridly. "I can't get anything out of Katie except 'I feex stew qveeck, I got to feex stew awful qveeck.'"

My mother-in-law's imitation of Katie's idioms was a fearful and wonderful thing in its unlikeness to the original, but she evidently much fancied herself in it, and she hurried to say:

"Whom is she going to feed? The bootlegger or the officers? And in the meantime there isn't a soul at the cleaning except Mrs. Tiger. She's the only one who hasn't gone crazy, apparently."

Her voice was heavy with sarcasm, but I knew well the most effective piece of artillery to bring up.

"Mother, there are six hungry little children over there, and the mother and father have been taken to jail. Katie is preparing a meal for them!"

"LITTLE CHILDREN HUNGRY!"

"Little children hungry!" she exclaimed, and I knew that I had sounded the right note. "Why on earth didn't Katie say so, then? I'll go right out and hurry her up."

But I knew only too well that it would be harrying instead of hurrying to which poor Katie would be subjected, so I interposed quickly:

"Just a second, please! I want your advice. The bootlegger was hidden over there, and got out the window as the troopers rode into the yard. Junior said he saw a man break a window and run across the road, but I thought he was imagining things——"

"If you and Richard had as much sense between you as Richard Second has, you'd be lucky," the young gentleman's adoring grandmother remarked, and I saw that Katie was safe from her interference for some minutes to come.

"To think!" she went on witheringly, "that nobody with brains enough to know what the blessed child's words meant was anywhere around! We might have had that escaped criminal in custody by now."

"I know it was inexcusable," I said, repressing a desire to laugh, "But it can't be helped now, and I want to ask you what you think about telling Jim to look for the man."

THE POOR GIRL.

Once there was a little girl. She lived in New York. Her mother was very poor. She had a bill to pay for her house and she had no money, so they told her by the next week she would have to move away.

The mother was very sad at that and told May, which was the girl's name. Then May said: Mother I will get some work and work hard so we can stay here. The next day May was going down the street looking for a job when she saw a little girl on the road playing and a machine was coming. May ran out to the street and grabbed the little girl and took her to the sidewalk. After a while the mother of the child came to get her. May told her what happened. The lady said you come over to my house and I will give you a reward for doing that. May got the reward and went home. When her mother saw her she said to herself. I know she hasn't work. When May got in the house she told her mother all about it. Her mother was so glad the next week the man said, have you the money to pay for the rent? Well, I have. He took the money and went away.

THE TREASURE.

Once upon a time there was a miller who had two sons. One was mean and the other was kind. Their names were Bob and Bill. The good one's name was Bob and the had one's name was Bill. One night Bill killed his father because his father had a lot of gold that he wanted. But Bill didn't know where it was. He looked all over the house, and at last he found a little chest. It was unlocked so he opened it and what do you suppose he saw? A knife all bloody, so he took it out and at the bottom of it he found a letter and he read it and this is what it said: Beware, if any one ever touches the sword would die in one hour. So Bill died in an hour. When Bob came home he saw Bill dead and he read the note. So he hunted all over the house again and he found the gold. He was very glad because his father had lost the gold in the house, and he got married and lived happy ever after.

FRANK AND DICK'S ADVENTURES IN AFRICA.

On the 20th of September two boys named Frank and Ed were talking about where they should go. Ed said, "Let's go to Florida." Frank said, "No, let's go to Africa." So they agreed on Saturday. They packed up their food and guns and everything so they go on the ship at San Francisco and when they got there they went into the jungles. When they got out a little ways Frank saw a big lion. Dick took a shot and wounded it. This made the lion mad, and he rushed right at them. Then the boys did not know what to do so they ran up a tree. Going up the tree the boys dropped their guns. It just happened that Dick had a pistol in his pocket and he shot the beast, so they went down and picked up the lion and put him on the elephant's back. So they went and found their guns and started out. They were headed for Zululand. In order to get there they must cross a river full of crocodiles, so they made a boat and went to Zululand. On their way they saw a big rhino, it chased them. This scared Dick and Frank, so they each said they were through with Africa and went home.

Once there was a haunted church and some boys wanted to go to see who was making it haunted, so they went and asked their mother if they could go, and she said they could. So John and Alfred went. They came to a door that had gold in it, and it had silver in it, and they came to another and it said on the door, Beware, in big letters. They went in that door and they saw two skeletons at the window and they was going to go back, but two more came in and they saw too bibbers and they said, hands up, and they went out of the church and brought them to the police and got $20,000 and they went to their mothers and lived happily ever after.

THE PLAY SQUIRRELS.

There were two boys, named Bod and Ted. They often went out into the woods and played with the squirrels.

They would feed them nuts and soon got the squirrels so tame that they would come and eat from their hands.

One day the boys let their little dog come with them to the woods and as soon as the squirrels saw the dog they ran for the trees and would not come down.

The boys were so sorry to lose the friendship of the squirrels so they had to start all over again, and it was a long time before they could make the little squirrels believe that they would not let anything harm them.

Dogs and squirrels won't mix, so the boys gave their dog away.

For if we're good, he might stay and play.
Oh! Here he comes, see all the soot,
And there comes his black leather-shod foot.

Wake up! Wake up! Children dear,
Santa Claus has just been here.
He has left you dolls, bats, books and toys,
Everything nice for good girls and boys.

I.

All the people like the fable of the fox and the crow,
When the fox saw the cheese his eyes were all aglow,
With eagerness and energy, and hungry as Tom Wing.
The fox went up to the crow and tried to make her sing.

II.

The crow was very proud, when he said sing what you please,
And as she opened her mouth to sing, out fell the cheese,
The fox picked up the cheese, and gave his paws a sway,
And laughing at the crow he ran full speed away.

III.

In hopeless longing for the cheese, the crow stood still as dead,
Ans with a helpless hunger, she openes her mouth anh said,
"From now I'll eat my dinner first, then for the fox I'll sing
I will take his advice no more, and be a vain old thing!"

CLARICE PATTERNS

(No. 1887)

Straight Silhouette Popular.

The straight tube-like silhouette reigns supreme among fashions for fall and winter, and so this charming slip-on affair is offered to the woman who is anxious to obtain a style which she knows will enjoy more than fleeting popularity and which at the same time she will be able to manage without difficulty. The pattern comes in sizes 16 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure, and requires for the 36-inch size only 3⅝ yards of 40-inch material. Price 15c, stamps or coin. The embroidery pattern No. 655 costs 15c extra.

How to Obtain Clarice Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly, including city, giving the number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 15 cents in stamps or coin (wrap coin carefully) for each pattern, and address your envelope to Clarice Pattern Bureau, Oakland TRIBUNE, Oakland, Calif. As these are ordered specially from Chicago, a few days should be allowed for delivery.

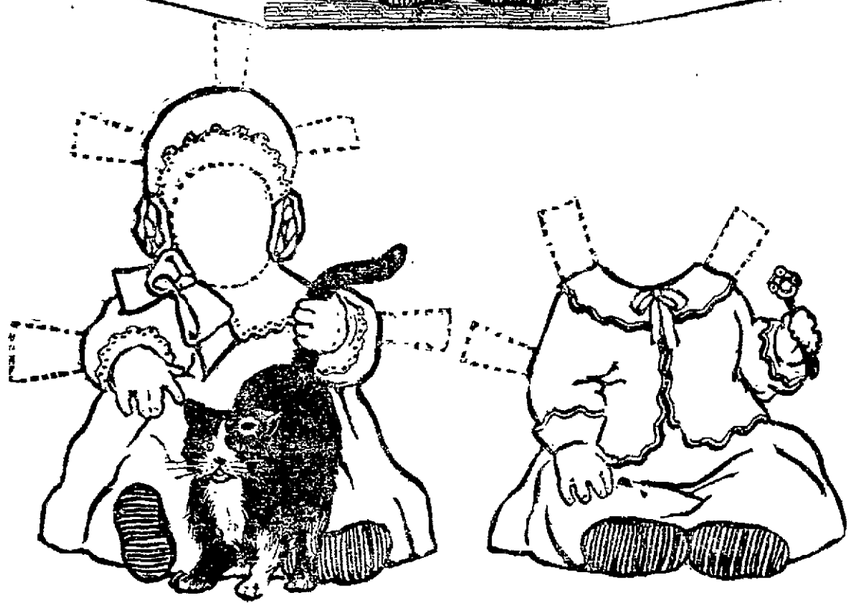
DICKY BOY.
We call him DICKY BOY,
Mother's pet, and Daddy's joy.
But his name is RICHARD ROBERT FRANCIS CREWE.

He has a little cat
And he loves to play with that
And he has a brand new coat and bonnet, too.

If you wish to take him out
For a little ride about,
You will need to dress him in his warmest clothes
For Jack Frost is out today
And his favorite sort of play
Is to nip the little fingers, cheeks and toes.



HOW TO TURN THESE PICTURES INTO TOYS.

Paste the picture baby and his clothes on paper or cloth, color them with your crayons and cut them out.

Cut out the circle in the bonnet, leaving a space for the little face to peep through.

Turn back the standards on the dotted lines to make the baby sit up straight and strong.

THE GREAT WORLD.

Dear Mother Sez:

More interesting to my children, than toys and games and toys is the great globe of the world we have on a stand in a corner of our living room. Nearly every evening we have geographical surveys, pointing out the place each child has already been to, the places they hope to go some day. I pick out articles in the foreign news of the day that might interest them and we find where the events took place. Then from a fund of geographical knowledge before they come to the subjects in school.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy
by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

RAGGEDY ANDY still hung with his wrist caught on the pot hook in the chimney of the fireplace in the house of the funny old man.

"If you knew how funny you looked hanging there, Raggedy Andy with your face covered with soot and your rag legs wiggling about, you would laugh at yourself!" the funny old man said.

Raggedy Andy did not reply, for he knew it would do no good.

"The nice fat policeman will come in pretty soon and arrest the funny old man; then Harry Hoolygooly will lift me from this pot hook!" Raggedy Andy thought to himself.

But the nice fat policeman did not come to arrest the funny old man, because the funny old man had promised that he would tweek the policeman's nose and give him a hard thump too. And of course, no policeman wishes any one to do such a rude thing as that to him.

"THE OLD FAT POLICEMAN HAS ONE MAGICAL PANCAKE AND HARRY HOOLYGOOLY HAS THE OTHER."

And even though Harry Hoolygooly coaxed and coaxed, the policeman would not promise to arrest the funny old man.

So Harry Hoolygooly and the policeman just sat out under a tree in front of the funny old man's house and waited.

Raggedy Andy could not see what the funny old man was up to out in the kitchen, but Raggedy Andy could hear him chuckling to himself as if he was thinking of a good joke.

Soon, Raggedy Andy could hear the funny old man open the kitchen door real softly and Raggedy Andy thought, "Now he will slip quietly out the back door and escape into the woods, then Harry Hoolygooly will come in and take me down from this hook!"

But Raggedy Andy was mistaken!

The funny old man closed the kitchen door and locked it, then he ran into the room where Raggedy Andy hung and peeped out of the key hole.

"I am playing a good joke on Harry Hoolygooly and the old fat policeman," he said, as he winked slyly at Raggedy Andy, "I made two magical pancakes and they will surely fool your friends! Just you wait and see!"

"I wish you would lift me from this pot hook so that I could watch too!" Raggedy Andy said.

The funny old man came and reached up to lift Raggedy Andy down, then he stopped. "Indeed, I shan't, Raggedy Andy!" he said "For if I do that, you will wrestle me and let the old fat policeman and Harry Hoolygooly inside! And Raggedy Andy knowing this was just what he had intended doing, remained silent.

"Ha, ha, ha! I thought so!" the funny old man chuckled, "The old fat policeman has one magical pancake and Harry Hoolygooly has the other. If they eat them both of your friends will change into little wooden pins, then I can go to Harry Hoolygooly's home and get the magical formula so that I can wish they would keep and eat the magical pancakes!" Raggedy Andy knew that he had to escape for he did not wish his friends to be changed into wooden pins. Now, Raggedy Andy knew of a certain way to warm his friends.

Uncle Wiggily Stories
By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SQUIGGLE BUGS.

Once upon a time two dear, little, spotted Squiggle Bugs lived in Uncle Wiggilys' hollow stump bungalow. The Squiggle Bugs had asked the rabbit gentleman if they might live with him, where it was nice and warm, until summer came again. For it was the beginning of winter when the Squiggle Bugs went to stay with Uncle Wiggily.

"Come right in! You are more than welcome!" greeted the bunny, when the little spotted creatures asked him.

So they had lived in the hollow stump bungalow up to this time. They had a snug little hole under the fireplace where they cuddled up, tucking their legs under them.

One afternoon Uncle Wiggily brought home in his pockets some horse chestnuts. He had picked them up on the ground near the home tree of the Bushytail squirrel family. Mrs. Bushytail had thrown them out after Johnnie and Billie, the squirrel boys, had stored the horse chestnuts away down in the nut cellar.

"Horse chestnuts are not of much use," chattered Mrs. Bushytail, as she tossed them out. "If we were starving we might eat them, but not otherwise, for we have better nuts than those."

Seeing the horse chestnuts on the ground, Uncle Wiggily picked up half a dozen and took them home.

"They look just like the buckeyes of the state of Ohio," he said, twinkling his pink nose.

"What are you going to do with those horse chestnuts?" asked Nurse Jane, when Uncle Wiggily took them from his pockets.

"Oh! Perhaps I might string them, as I did the acorns for Nannie Wagtail, and make a necklace for the baby elephant," laughed the bunny. He had made holes in two of the horse chestnuts when, all of a sudden, the two little Squiggle Bugs crawled up out of their snug hole under the fireplace.

"Is it spring yet, Uncle Wiggily?" they whispered.

"Gracious sakes alive, no!" exclaimed the bunny. "Get back in your snug, warm hole. It won't be spring yet for two months or more."

"Oh! We are so tired of staying down there in that dark hole," sighed one little Squiggle Bug. "Couldn't we sit out on the mantel?"

"You might catch cold, as I did when I sneezed," spoke Uncle Wiggily. But just then he looked at the two horse chestnuts in which he had made holes, and these gave him an idea. "Ha! I have it!" he cried. "I'll put each of you inside a horse chestnut and put the nuts on the mantel. There you will be warm and there you may look out and see what goes on in the world."

No sooner said than done! Into a horse chestnut crawled each of the two little Squiggle Bugs, and Uncle Wiggily placed them on the mantel. Also he placed on the mantel the other nuts, without any holes in them, leaving them there, for, just then, Nurse Jane called to him to come to supper. And it was such a good supper that the rabbit gentleman forgot to tell his muskrat lady housekeeper about the two little Squiggle Bugs inside the horse chestnuts.

After supper Uncle Wiggily went to sleep. And up on the mantel, snug in their nuts, the Squiggle Bugs also took a trip to Dreamland.

It was the next day that Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the two squirrel boys, stopped at Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. They were on their way to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the hollow stump school.

"Oh, Nurse Jane!" chattered Johnnie, "Did Uncle Wiggily bring home some of our horse chestnuts?

The Squiggle Bugs did a funny little dance.

Mother says she saw him pick them up after she threw them out."

"Yes, there are a lot of chestnuts on the mantel," said the muskrat.

"May we have them back?" begged Billie. "Mother didn't know we wanted them to play with, or she wouldn't have thrown them out."

"Bless your frisky tails, take them!" laughed Nurse Jane. "I'm sure Uncle Wiggily won't mind!"

So the squirrel boys took the chestnuts back again, including the two with the Squiggle Bugs in them. But as the Squiggle Bugs were fast asleep they didn't know what was happening.

Johnnie and Billie took the chestnuts to school. But, as they played with them in class, the Lady Mouse made the squirrel boys bring the nuts up to her desk. And as she placed them on top, in a place where the warm sun shone in the window, Uncle Wiggily called to visit the school.

And while the rabbit gentleman was listening to the class sing, all of a sudden the Squiggle Bugs inside the two chestnuts awakened by the warm sun, began to wiggle. The chestnuts began to roll about, and finally they rolled off the Lady Mouse Teacher's desk to the floor.

"Oh, what kind of horse chestnuts are these?" she squeaked. "They must be alive, or have little pennies in them!"

But Uncle Wiggily saw the two holes he had bored and he knew the Squiggle Bugs were inside. So he showed the Bugs to the Lady Mouse and the animal children, and then no one was afraid. And Johnnie and Billie laughed. And the Squiggle Bugs did a funny little dance on teacher's desk before they crawled back inside the nuts for the bunny to take them home.

So it all happened for the best, you see. And if the mosquito doesn't try to go swimming inside the fountain pen and get its legs all ink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the postage stamps.

"No, I want so to make funny clothes for the snowman. I want to make him into a snowwoman for a joke." Mandy cackled sleefully when she brought out the ridiculous things you see above.

"They's jus' a little out of style fo' me to wear this season," she explained, "so you jus' put them on dat ol' ice person to warm his shiverin' bones!"

"This is the way Betty Cut-out looks when she's dressed up," read the sign by the snowwoman a few minutes later.

The drawing shows the word "TEASERS," in heavy letters, and under it 12 combinations of two words each. Each combination contains just seven letters and in some of them those letters are the same seven letters that form the word "TEASERS." (For example, if a combination reads RATS SEE, it would be correct, as it contains the letters forming TEASERS.) Some other combinations, however, are incorrect.

The problem is this: Allow yourself 20 seconds (having someone time you if possible). In that time, run through the list and pick out all of the combinations which you think are correct "anagrams"—that is, the combinations that contain the same seven letters that are found in "TEASERS." Dr. Snape to Dedicate Church Sign

Special dedicatory services will be observed at the First Baptist church tomorrow night for the new electric sign which has just been installed at the main entrance of the edifice, and which is one of the finest electric signs in Oakland and said to be the largest of its kind in America. The music for the occasion will be given by the quartet and choir under the direction of Charles Lloyd; and Orley See, violinist, will play the concert version of "Deep River" by Taylor-Powell, and "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go."

Dr. Snape's dedicatory sermon will be entitled, "The Pharos Lighthouse or The World's Greatest Light." He says "the Pharos' Lighthouse whose shining light streamed for sixteen centuries to show mariners the entrance to the double harbor of the Pharos Island, has been called the greatest light of the world. But the greatest light is really that light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world: Is the contest today a contest of light against darkness or a contest of light against light? Can a man accept light and deny its central source? Is the light of understanding or of conscience sufficient?"

At the morning hour, the sermon topic will be "The Bible Estimate of Sin," and will be of a wide expository nature.

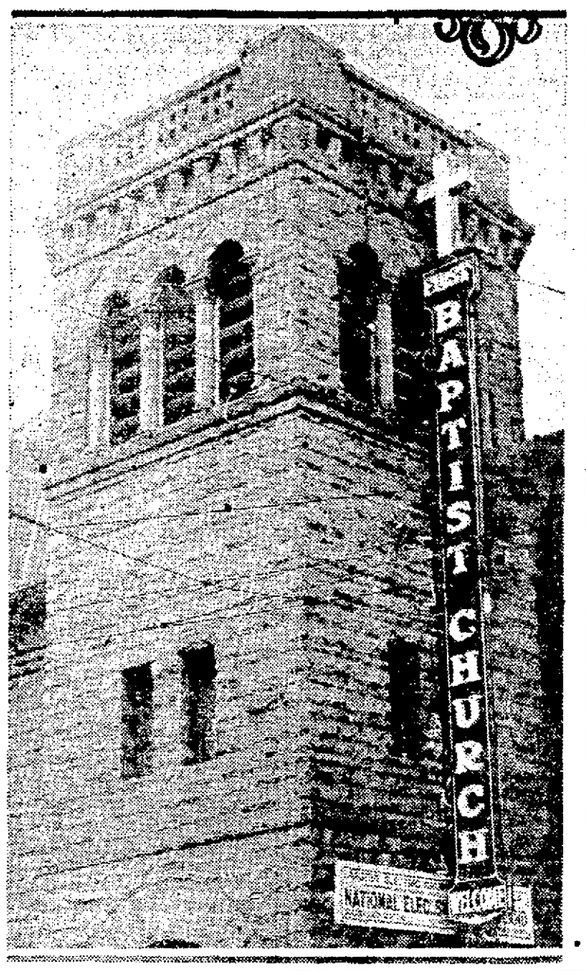
CHEST WILL BE EXPLAINED AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

So that each child in the Sunday schools of Oakland shall be familiar with the Community Chest and it needs, Sunday school supervisors and superintendents in all of the churches will have teachers of each class give five minutes talks to the children tomorrow morning.

Through the Speakers Bureau of the Community Chest, superintendents and teachers have received material which they will present to the children. Following a talk on the Community Chest last Sunday at the Temple Sinai, the Sunday school children decided to have their contribution for the day turned over to the Chest.

Big Electric Sign Installed

What is claimed to be the largest church electric sign in America was installed yesterday at the First Baptist church, Twenty-first and Telegraph. A huge cross surmounts the sign, which is visible for miles.



Install Large Church Sign For Baptists

One of the largest electric signs of its kind was installed yesterday at the First Baptist church at Twenty-first and Telegraph. The sign is 44 feet high and 4 feet wide. The letters are 18 inches high and double-faced so that they show from both sides. The light bulbs used are 2-watt blue daylight type, thus affording an attractive sign for the day time and a beautiful brilliant one for night.

It is of steel construction, is built in two sections, and weighs 900 pounds. The flashing cross which surmounts the sign will shine out over the city and the word "Welcome" at the bottom will greet people as they near the building.

DR. TINGLEY WILL SPEAK AT SWEDISH CHURCH

Dr. C. E. Tingley, head of the city missions in the Bay district, for the Northern California Baptist Conference, will be the speaker at the Swedish Baptist church tomorrow evening. Miss Jennie Lundell, soprano, will sing.

A new departure from the previous schedule of meetings in the Swedish Baptist church will be inaugurated next Wednesday evening, when the prayer meeting will be held under the auspices of the young people of the church, and will be conducted in the English language. The last Wednesday of each month is to be given over to the young people for this purpose.

Pastor Will Lecture on Tut's Tomb

Interest in the illustrated lecture of Rev. Clarence Reed on the recent archaeological excavations in Egypt has exceeded all expectations. His subject tomorrow at 8 p. m. will be "The Romance of the Pharaohs." He will continue to show pictures of the thousands of remarkable objects of art that are being found in the tomb of Tutankh-amen, among them being the king's couches and chairs that are of ebony, ivory and gold, chests of blue faience and polished obsidian, necklaces, rings, canes and bows.

The community singing as led by Charles B. Weikel has become a feature of the service. The birthday of Robert Burns will be observed Sunday evening, only Scotch songs being sung. Robert Robertson has been secured to sing "The Wee House Among the Heather" and "There's Somebody Waitin' For Me."

"The Glory of Free Thought" will be the subject of the sermon by Dr. Reed Sunday at 11 a. m. He says that the great task of the church today is to encourage freedom of thought.

Professor William S. Morgan of Berkeley will address the Adult Bible Class Sunday at 10 a. m., his subject being "The Great Peace Plan of Henry IV."

EVANGELISTIC RALLY DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

RICHMOND, Jan. 26.—In a big tabernacle at the corner of Nevin avenue and Tenth street, Rev. John Brown started an Evangelistic campaign Thursday night which Richmond churchgoers hope will bring down the sawdust trail a large number of converts. The campaign was started with enthusiasm, engendered by a whirlwind campaign of cottage prayer meetings conducted during the last fortnight.

A large crowd thronged the place. Local volunteers who had built the tabernacle had the seats of honor, and the choir of 200 voices was heard for the first time Thursday night.

The Brown party was met at the train by a delegation of Richmondites led by P. M. Sanford, who has headed the general committee which planned the campaign, including the construction of the tabernacle. Dr. Brown spoke yesterday before the Rotarians at their weekly meeting. Loren G. Jones, soloist with the party, also sang for the Rotarians.

Congregation Will Hear Two New Singers

Two new singers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Layfield, will be heard in the musical programs given at Olivet Congregational church at the Sunday services.

Rev. Harold Govette will preach tomorrow morning on the topic "Better Things." In his sermon, the minister says he will speak of some of the many better things that the Lord has in store for those who love and serve him. That these better things are not only for the enjoyment of those who obtain them but for their spiritual development and to impart strength for service.

At the evening service the minister will speak on "The Temptations of Jesus," showing that Christ was tempted as men are tempted today. That through the strength of the Holy Spirit he overcame all temptations, as man may overcome them if he maintains the presence of God's spirit.

DEDICATION IN FRUITVALE NOW SET FOR FEB. 10

Dedication of the new church building of Fruitvale Christian church will be held Sunday, February 10, with Dr. H. O. Breeden, pastor of the First Christian church, dedicator, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Kelly O'Neall. The structure is at the corner of Fruitvale avenue and East Seventeenth street.

The new edifice has an auditorium for worship and enough other rooms articulated to the building already erected so that the church will have a complete plant for community church work. The building is of stucco, semi-mission architecture and, with other buildings erected several years ago, represents an expenditure of $55,000. J. Watson Olver is the architect; Thomas A. Cuthbertson, the contractor, and C. B. Matheny, chairman of the church building committee.

Egyptian Student Will Talk To Club

Channing Club of the University of California will meet in the chapel of the First Unitarian church, Berkeley, at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening. The club will be addressed on "Modern Egypt" by Mohamed Ali Kelaney, an Egyptian student sent to the University of California by the Egyptian government for post-graduate work in agriculture.

Dr. Brown To Preach Tomorrow

Dr. Robert E. Brown, pastor of the Second Congregational church of Waterbury, Conn., will be the preacher at the morning service at the First Congregational church tomorrow. Dr. Brown is here for a brief visit, having just come from attendance upon the midwinter conference of the Congregational societies in Chicago. He is the brother-in-law of Dr. Robert Millikan, of Pasadena, who recently won the Nobel Prize, and is well known in scientific circles. The adjourned business meeting of the church will meet at the close of the morning service.

At the evening service the official Community Chest motion pictures will be shown, and S. J. Donohue, of the Community Chest, will speak. These pictures are of exceptional excellence, and are meeting everywhere with marked commendation. Those who have been unable to participate in any of the Community Chest tours will find the viewing of the pictures a pleasant and profitable way of getting acquainted with the great work of the character building and relief agencies of Oakland. Both services will be held at Temple Sinai, Twenty-eighth and Webster streets.

The Church school meets at 9:45 a. m. in the First Unitarian church. Fred Spiess' class in the intermediate department, will have charge of the service of worship and will report on their visit to Community Chest agencies last Sunday. The church school will appropriate an offering to the Community Chest.

WILL ATTEND SOCIAL.

The Baracas-Philintheas of the First Baptist church of Oakland will attend a social tonight at the home of Winfield Brace, 1118 Regent street, Alameda. Members of the class should be at the church at 7:40 p. m. and make the trip in machines, the last conveyance to leave the church at 8:10 p. m.

Special Music Is Arranged For Celebration

Solemn celebration of the Festival of its Patron Saint will be observed at St. Francis de Sales church, Grove and Twentieth streets, tomorrow morning. Pontifical celebration of mass will commence at 10:30 o'clock. Rt. Rev. Bishop Keane, D.D., of Sacramento, will be the celebrant, with Rev. Dr. Morrison as arch priest; Rev. R. Bray, deacon; Rev. J. B. Cantillon, sub-deacon, and Rev. Fathers P. J. Quinn and T. J. O'Connell, deacons of honor. Ceremonies will be directed by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Cantwell, assisted by Rev. P. G. Moriarity. The sermon will be delivered by Most Rev. E. J. Hanna, D.D., assisted at the throne by Rev. E. P. Dempsey and Rev. Henri Langlard.

Miss Margaret Cain will have charge of the special music. Cedric Wright's orchestra will accompany the voices.

London Campaigner To Speak Tomorrow

Miss Myrle Weymouth of London, world campaigner for the W. C. T. U. and at present commissioned in California as field worker and organizer, will speak tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Shattuck Avenue M. E. church. She specializes in Young People's work.

Jesus Formed No Complexes, Pastor Says

GORDON KENT, pastor of the First Unitarian church of Alameda, will preach a series of sermons on the subject "Jesus the Master Psychoanalyst." The series will include seven lectures delivered on alternate Sundays, beginning tomorrow and continuing until Easter Sunday.

The pastor will attempt to show how Jesus escaped phobias, formed no complexes, faced reality and made sublimations of his unconscious successfully.

THE FLASHING CROSS

A New Sign of Truth for Oakland

WHAT is said to be the largest electric sign upon any church building in America has just been installed upon the tower of this church. In fact, we are told this sign is the largest vertical electric display of any kind in the entire East Bay section. It is of steel construction, weighs over [illegible] pounds, is 44 feet high, 4 feet wide and contains 18-inch double-faced letters backed with 2-watt blue daylight type bulbs. Topping the sign is a [illegible] flashing cross, and serving as an appropriate foundation is the word "WELCOME." Construction and installation of such a sign costs nearly $1,000. It will serve not only to direct attention to this growing church, but to make Telegraph Avenue another white path of light every evening until midnight. This Sign of Progress will be dedicated a special service tomorrow night at 7:15. Come. Dr. Snape will deliver an appropriate message.

"The Pharos' Lighthouse; or, the World's Greatest Light"

The Pharos lighthouse [illegible] in our modern day. At Fort Monroe, the [illegible] Bay, is a great searchlight, with a beam of light 8 feet in diameter [illegible] to illuminate a mariner a hundred miles away. It is called the greatest [illegible] world; but whether such it is certainly mistaken. Is the light of this searchlight more significant than the mighty beam at Fort Monroe? Today, in the [illegible] and darkness, or between light and light? Can a man accept light and [illegible] What is the greatest light in the world? Orley See, violinist of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will play the concert version of Taylor-Powell's "Deep River" and the tender tune, "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go."

Sunday Morning: Dr. Snape's Topic:
"THE BIBLE ESTIMATE OF SIN."

DO YOU KNOW This church raised during 1923 over $[illegible] a year ago? [illegible] amount over $[illegible] [illegible] channels of this city. Besides [illegible] church, this is a [illegible] organization—growing and [illegible] Spirit flowing through [illegible] that will flash our welcome [illegible] every night in the year. [illegible] biggest hearts [illegible] Come, enjoy the ACTION of this worship organization. Besides [illegible] one of the [illegible] and one among the [illegible] a Station and this church has [illegible] constructed a Mission [illegible] Park and helps with money and people to keep it [illegible]. There's something worth while going on here [illegible] the heart of Sunday night congregations in the East Bay section!

NEWS OF EASTBAY CHURCHES

New Science Building to Open Sunday

Formal opening of the new edifice of the Christian Science Society of Walnut Creek is announced for tomorrow at 11 a. m. and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The structure which was recently completed on Locust street is of Dutch Colonial design. The lot is 50 by 100 feet and cost $600. The building cost a little more than $4000. W. A. Doctor of Oakland is the architect.

The auditorium is 36 by 24 feet and seats 200. There are two small reading rooms, a vestibule, lavatory and closet. The building was begun November 15, under the supervision of J. Harvey Spence.

In February, 1913, two ladies interested in Christian Science began reading the lessons together at the home of one. As this fact became known others who were interested joined the group. At the end of two months an average attendance of fifteen made it necessary to seek a larger room. On April 4, 1913, a temporary organization was formed and two readers selected. The old Masonic hall was secured for the regular Sunday services, beginning June 1. In July a Sunday school was organized. In January, 1914, the Christian Science Society of Walnut Creek was organized as a branch of The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston, Mass., with a membership of sixteen. The society continued to meet in the old Masonic hall until January, 1917, when the use of the Women's Club rooms was acquired, which services have been held up to the present time.

In 1920 a lot 50 by 100 feet was purchased. At a special meeting of the society held April 4 1923, the treasurer gave a report on finances. The time was considered ripe for banking and accordingly with the funds in the treasury and the amount that would be available under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, plans were pushed to completion.

Walnut Creek C. S. Church

250 Are Present At Annual Meet Of First Church

Two hundred and fifty members of the First Christian church, Grand avenue and Webster street, attended the annual meeting of the church last Wednesday evening. The Fellowship dinner was followed by the business session, when reports from all departments of the church were received.

Under the guidance of Rev. Harvey O. Breeden, the church has raised and expended almost $20,000 during the past year, the largest item being used for the construction of the new Community Center for the social and athletic events of the church and home of Everyman's Bible class.

The stress of all departments in the year to come is to be evangelistic in character and a big effort made to come into contact in the most vital way with the social, educational and political life of our community. One hundred and fifty additions in membership were reported for the year.

Stirring addresses were made by a number of the active workers and an appeal was made by Dr. George Brewster in a preview of the year to come.

"The Face of Jesus Christ" will be the theme of Dr. Breeden's sermon tomorrow morning. The anthem, "Jesus, My Strength," by Marks, and a solo, "The Ransomed of the Lord," by McDermid, will be rendered by Lester L. Westling.

The Woman's Missionary Society will present the drama "Aunt Polly Joins the Missionary Society." The characters follow: Mrs. Smith, (elderly lady), Mrs. H. P. Evans; Mrs. Jones (elderly lady), Mrs. L. D. Tedrowe; Aunt Polly Plodkins, (spinster), Mrs. L. B. Delzelle; Miss Elvira Thompkins, (spinster), Mrs. Jesse Groves; Miss Mary Golden, (young lady), Miss H. W. McCann. Reading, "When the Deacon Talked in Church," Miss Albertina Treadwell. Address by Dr. Harvey O. Breeden. "Our Part in the Golden Jubilee," Mrs. Russell Lowry. Good music throughout the program.

The Young People's Class will have as their special speaker tomorrow morning at 10, William Gillanders, late general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Australia.

ORDINANCE NO. 5.

Prescribing the Terms and Conditions upon which the City of Piedmont may be annexed to the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Piedmont has negotiated with the Board of Directors of the East Bay Municipal Utility District for the annexation of said city to said district, and the matter having been duly and regularly considered by the Board of Directors of said district, and said board being fully advised in the premises, now therefore

Be it enacted by the Board of Directors of the East Bay Municipal Utility District:

Section 1. That the said City of Piedmont may be annexed to the said East Bay Municipal Utility District on the following terms and conditions, to-wit:

That the City Council of the City of Piedmont call an election in said city in accordance with the provisions of chapter 218, statutes of 1921 of the State of California, to determine whether said city should be annexed to said district; and that if, upon a canvass of the result thereof, it appears that a majority of all the votes cast at said election are cast in favor of annexation, and the proposition shall be deemed to have been approved by the electors, the City of Piedmont will pay to the East Bay Municipal Utility District its pro rata of all the lawful expenses incurred or paid by said district since the organization thereof, said pro rata share being the aggregate amount which the taxpayers of said city would have been required to pay if it had been a part of said district since its organization; also that the city council of said city will levy and collect taxes and pay the same to said district for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1924, in such amount as would be collected for that purpose by the tax collector of Alameda County if such city had been originally embraced within said district, as said amount may be certified to said City of Piedmont by the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Sec. 2. That the aforesaid terms and conditions are satisfactory and agreeable to the Board of Directors of said district.

(Signed) MARSTON CAMPBELL, President.

I hereby certify that the foregoing ordinance was duly and regularly introduced at an adjourned regular meeting of the board of directors of the East Bay Municipal Utility District held in Room 315 of the City Hall in the City of Oakland, California, on Thursday evening, December 27th, 1923, and thereafter at an adjourned regular meeting of said board held in said place Wednesday evening, January 2nd, 1924, was duly and regularly adopted by said board by the following vote, to-wit:

Ayes: Directors Bartlett, Boyer, Latham, Miller and President Campbell. Noes: None. Absent: None.

Thereupon it was filed in my office on the same day and subsequently recorded on page 49 of the "Record" of said board.

(Seal) J. H. KIMBALL, Secretary.

LONG SHOTS FEATURE OPENING CONTEST OF CONFERENCE SERIES

Campbell Features for Trojans While Ernie Nevers Is Big Gun for Cards; Second Game Will Be Played Tonight in Stanford Pavilion.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Falling short in their final rush in an attempt to overcome an early lead, Coach Andy Kerr's basketball quintet lost a heart-breaking contest to the University of Southern California hoopsters in the Stanford basketball pavilion last night by a score of 20 to 17 before a crowd of 3000 spectators.

Stanford, although defeated in their opening Conference game, was far from outclassed, rather appeared to stack up on even terms as far as actual ability was concerned, being at times outlucked and then again lacking the machine-like ability displayed by the Trojans in the execution of plays. These, and a decidedly off night when it came to hooping the sphere led to the downfall of the Cardinal five in their first Conference game.

It was an excellent exhibition from start to finish, one of those thrillers which serves to bring the crowd up cheering every few seconds as first one team and then the other demonstrated some angle of the indoor sport. Stanford, off behind when the Trojans caged the first points, was twice able to come from behind, once a 4-4 and again at 7-7 in the first half, but the first period ended with the Trojans leading 10-7 and from then on to the final gun the Southerners were never headed.

U. S. C. Proved More Efficient.

U. S. C. was decidedly more efficient last night than was Stanford. This was particularly noticeable in the record set by the Cards for attempts caged per number tried in other games early in the season. Stanford's forward scoring combination, particularly McHose and Steele, were off last night. The latter, missing no less than four pose shots under the basket, had more to do with the defeat suffered than any individual, though McHose, in the first half, normally would have caged several shots he missed.

But U. S. C. shot only at infrequent intervals, yet with dazzling speed and using the same running attack shown against California.

The Trojans realized that their greatest asset was to play an air-tight defensive game and upon this point they based their attention, with the result that Stanford seldom got through to the basket.

The scoring record showed that Stanford men attempted 54 shots at basket, of which they hooped 7, an efficiency record of 13 per cent. Against this U. S. C. shot 38 times and caged 7, a 19 per cent record.

Scoring Was Distributed.

With so few field goals, scoring was evenly distributed among the players of both teams. Ernie Nevers, with 8 and Gordon Campbell, with 7, were high men respectively for Stanford and U. S. C.

Leading 10 to 7 at the start of the second half the Trojans forged ahead to the 16-10 mark, then to 20-12.

With ten minutes to play U. S. C., regarding their 8-point lead as safe, played entirely defensive well in their own territory, forcing Stanford men to rush their game of keep-away, as they were making no effort to shoot.

Under this defense it required time for Stanford to get the ball, and here they started their slow climb, first 20-13, then 20-15, then 20-17 and with two minutes of play remaining the Trojans, stalling for the fun, were in possession of the ball.

The two teams meet again tonight in the second game of the series at Stanford.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Mrs. Milton Bernard looked like she would bet her own record for the Sequoyah course yesterday when an unfortunate 9 stopped her chances at the pond hole. Leaving the fifteenth green the Sequoyah champion was only 5 over fours and a 6-4-5 would have given her an 80 to tie her own record, but rain descended and although the plucky Sequoyah player makes no alibis she probably hurried her strokes on the critical sixteenth, where a 9 appeared on her card. The short seventeenth also demanded an extra two strokes, but the eighteenth again saw her play perfect golf and secure a five on the exacting finishing hole. A six at the sixth and the tenth were the only other blemishes on an excellent round of 84-6-78. Three threes and one two were included in the sweepstake winner's card over a course where very little run was secured on the drives. Mrs. Bernard's card read as follows:

Out ..4 3 5 5 3 6 5 4 5—40
In ....6 5 2 5 3 4 9 5 5—44—84

Mrs. Wyman Taylor, the captain, playing with Mrs. Bruce Adams from the California Golf club, had an excellent score of 94. Mrs. Adams, the captain of the California club, finished in the prize list with 96-10-86. Mrs. Taylor's net score was 94-10-84.

The Claremont players had an off day, Mrs. H. A. Prole and Mrs. R. R. Yates both failing to play up to their club reputation. A total of 21 entries for this invitational medal sweepstake tournament included the following players: Mrs. W. B. Stadfeldt, Mrs. R. E. Cotter, Mrs. S. E. Jackson, Mrs. C. F. Jarvis, Mrs. Lee Dunham, Mrs. O. Ellinghouse, Mrs. F. L. Dettman, Mrs. C. G. Knight and her two guests, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Pauson. The Berkeley representatives included Mrs. C. B. Joeckel, Mrs. R. H. Madden and Mrs. E. O. Edgerton.

Many of the competitors failed to complete the 18 holes on account of the rain.

Details of winners' scores were as follows:

Mrs. Milton Beernard	...84	6	78
Mrs. Wyman Taylor	94	10	84
Mrs. J. Bruce Adams	...96	10	86

At old Ingleside, the home course of the California club, 40 representatives of the Sequoyah club play in the first round of their 36-hole home and home match today, teeing off at 12:30. The return match will be played tomorrow at Sequoyah, starting at 9 a. m. The line-up of the rival teams are as follows:

Dr. C. H. Walters and Dr. J. H. Stineman (Sequoyah) against C. Edwards and A. E. Darbee (California).

E. J. Hadden and C. Putnam (Sequoyah) against G. Hardy and F. Frisk (California).

Weather Man May Halt Big Semi-pro Game

County and K. C. Champs Ready for Final Game of Championship Series.

Unless the weather man ceases his good behavior toward the bushers, baseball fans around the bay can look forward to some snappy games tomorrow morning and afternoon. The season for the winter leaguers is closed as far as the regular schedule goes, but there are a few championship games and others necessary to settle the race in a couple of the divisions of the Spalding League that are on the program.

The big game of the day is scheduled at the Oakland Coast League park in the afternoon. Oakland Council No. 784, Knights of Columbus, and San Leandro are on an even standing in their series for the Eastbay semi-pro championship, and tomorrow's game if played will determine which team wins the honors. Since last Sunday's game, which ended in a 3 to 2 victory for the "Caseys," who are the champs of the Northern California K. C. League, baseball fans throughout the county and even up in Napa county have been talking about the third game to be played tomorrow.

McNAMARA AND LAY.

Manager Johnny Gillespie of the "Caseys" was so well pleased with the pitching of Jimmy McNamara last Sunday that he has decided to start him tomorrow again. Heinie Lay, who pitched great ball in both his starts against the "Caseys," will again decorate the hill for the Cherry Pickers. A record crowd witnessed the game last Sunday and another is expected tomorrow.

Walter (Biff) Schaller, latest addition to the Coast League umpiring staff, will call the base decisions, while Edward (Tuxedo) Ryan will call them from behind the plate. Ryan, who has been showing a lot of class as an umpire, is anxious to break into organized ball and he has a good chance if he continues to call them as he has this season. The game will start at 2:15 sharp.

For the first time this winter followers of the American division of the Spalding Class A League will have a chance to see teams from that division in action at the Coast League park. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock the Whelan Markets, leaders of the division, will meet the Lee Bertillion Hatters. If the Whelans win they will cinch the American championship and meet the Durant-Steves, champs of the National division, in a series of games for the amateur Class A championship. If they lose they will be in a triple tie for first place with the Bertillions and Zenith Millers, so a good crowd is expected at this game also. Harry Arlett will umpire.

CLASS B SERIES.

One of the semi-final games in the Class B championship series will be in the afternoon at the Melrose diamond with the United Dry Cleaners meeting the Chris Nelson Painters. Meade and Dick will be the umpires. The game will start at 2:15.

At San Pablo playgrounds in Berkeley at 1 o'clock the Knights of Pythias and St. Joseph's Athletic Club teams, which tied for first place in the Western division, will tangle to see which will meet the winners of the Pacific division, Frank Bethel and Jack Elwood will be the umpires.

The first game of the championship between the Northern and Southern division winners of the Class C league will take place at Lockwood school at 2:15. The Zenith Mill Juniors will meet the New Process Laundry. Hughes will umpire.

Last Night's fight results

Young Nationalista earned decision over Roy Riley.

Dan Gallagher won a decision over Martin O'Shea.

Pat Sullivan and George Gibbons boxed a draw.

Al McCoy lost to Mickey Sullivan.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 26.—Paul Foster of Mullan, Idaho, after dropping Bill Griffith of Spokane Athletic Club three times for the count of eight, succumbed to a knockout in the second round. The fight furnished the feature for the amateur boxing card at the club's smoker here last night.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Harry Wallace, negro boxer from San Francisco, was awarded the judges' decision over Frankie Vierra of Alameda after four fast rounds of boxing in the final battle of a triple main event staged here last night.

In the preceding bout Lefty Cooper of Sacramento was awarded a decision over "Wild Man" Gould of Boston, the boys battling at 145 pounds.

Ritchie Davis of Portland took a four-round verdict over Kid Bucunik, negro boxer of West Oakland, after a slashing mill in the opening tilt of the trio of headliners.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Frankie Garcia, local featherweight, last night won the decision over Joe Gagnon of Portland, the main go of a boxing show at the Hollywood American legion stadium.

AMARALS WINNERS.

VALLEJO, Jan. 26.—The Amaral sons will play musical games from the Amaral Cafe bowling floor of the Barracks alleys on Tuesday night. Jake Knutes for the Stars was high man with 206.

Davis Given New Contract At Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 26.—Paul Davis will remain at Stanford as graduate manager for three more years by action of the Board of Trustees yesterday.

The three-year agreement approved by the trustees was recommended by the Board of Athletic Control. The salary was not named in the announcement but it is understood here that Davis is to receive a substantial increase.

Davis has prepared and had approved plans for expansion of the athletic plant of the university, which look as far forward as twenty years.

Wrestlers to Meet on Local Mat Tonight

Montana Is Rough, But Al. Karasick Does Not Seem to Be Worried.

Al Karasick, local wrestler, who has been beating all comers in this section, hopes to prove to his local friends tonight that "Bull" Montana is not so rough that he cannot handle him with his well-known headlock. Having disposed of all local talent, Karasick was forced to accept the match with Montana in order to keep busy, so tonight will see the two grapplers in action on the mat at the State Armory on Twenty-fourth street.

There is quite a bit of interest shown in the match, probably because fans have not forgotten when Montana was last here and he put up one of the roughest exhibitions of grappling ever witnessed in the state. It is just his style and Karasick says that he is willing to put up with it, so if the Bull does get rough tonight, it will be only what Karasick expects.

Joe Barnes, Clif Lewis and Joe Costello are a few of Karasick's latest victims. Montana means real business and promises to get rid of Karasick as fast as he can, although the match is scheduled for two hours.

There will be a pair of preliminaries, the first event starting at 8 o'clock.

Ball Games Tomorrow

San Leandro, champions of Alameda County League, vs. Oakland Council No. 784, champions of Knights of Columbus League, in final game of series for Eastbay semi-pro title. Coast League Park, 2:15 p. m. Umpires "Biff" Schaller on bases and Eddie (Tuxedo) Ryan behind the plate.

AMERICAN DIVISION, SPALDING LEAGUE

Whelan Market vs. Lee Bertillion Hatters at Coast League Park, 10:30 a. m. Umpire Harry Arlett.

WESTERN DIVISION, SPALDING "B" LEAGUE

Knights of Pythias vs. St. Joseph's Athletic Club at San Pablo Playground, 1 p. m. Final game for division championship. Umpires, Frank Bethel on bases, Jack Elwood at plate.

CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

United Dry Cleaners, champions of Coast Division, vs. Chris Nelson Painters, champions of Eastern Division, at Melrose 2:15 p. m. Umpires Meade and Dick.

Zenith Mill Juniors vs. New Process Laundry for Northern and Southern Division championship of Class "C" League at Lockwood School, 2:15 p. m. Umpire, Hughes.

INDEPENDENT GAMES

Foresters of America vs. Independent Order of Foresters at Alberger Field, 2:15 p. m.

Havers Fails To Play Best In Rain Storm

Gene Sarazen, American professional golf champion and known as one of the world's greatest match players, yesterday defied the elements and dubbed through soggy fairways and pond-like greens to notch 3 up in the first half of the 72-hole international contest with Arthur G. Havers, holder of the British open title, played at the Lake Merced Golf and Country club.

Handicapped by an almost steady downpour which started shortly after play began in the morning neither Sarazen nor Havers exhibited the brand of golf that their records had led the gallery to expect. Their cards for the 36 holes were: Sarazen 151, Havers 153. The concluding 36 holes of the match will be played tomorrow at the Hillcrest Country club, Los Angeles.

BOTH IN TROUBLE.

While both champions were in and out of trouble at various times and sliced and hooked occasionally as though they were the veriest duffers, Havers' downfall came on the greens. With Sarazen usually well up to the cup, the British champion most of the time was either short or over. And his second green shot, many times long and difficult, did not always sink.

Although Sarazen found sand traps and the rough on many tee shots, his recoveries for the most part were little short of marvelous and many times overcame the loss of distance. Throughout he was steadier on the greens and fairways than Havers. Only once, on the seventh hole in the morning round, was he ever down to the British champion.

HAVERS DISAPPOINTED.

Havers, credited with being one of the longest drivers in the world, did not come up to expectations in the morning round and a number of times was outdriven by his American opponent. But in the afternoon play, although handicapped by the driving rain, the British expert found his driving stride and outdistanced Sarazen from almost every tee. Some of his drives closely approached the 300-yard mark, considered exceptional, for the soggy fairways, where the ball had little chance to roll.

Sarazen started the second 18 two up. On the second hole his second shot, much overplayed, hit the pin and dropped within a short distance of the cup. This fortunate "break" put the American 3 up. After sinking his 35-footer on the seventh and regaining a hole, Havers seemed to regain courage and proceeded, with long tee shots and excellent putting, to win the next two holes and square the match.

BALL HIT SPECTATOR.

On the ninth hole of the second round, when Sarazen's third shot out of a trap sliced, the ball hit one of the gallery as it reached the green and kicked off into another trap. This lost the hole for the American.

On some greens the contestants were discarding their putters and using mashies. And Havers was finding it hard to reach the cup. Through poor green work he was again one down at the eleventh.

It was on the eleventh that Sarazen played the most sensational shot of the day.

Here Sarazen was on in two and Havers had pitched up and was over in three and in a puddle. But directly between Sarazen's ball and the cup was a large pool of water that would completely cover the ball. Sarazen studied the situation, and, taking his mashie, pitched up and into the cup.

Sarazen took the next three holes and at the fifteen was 5 up. Havers found the going bad, both on the fairways and on the greens. His approaches were short and his putts were shorter.

On the eighteenth Havers outdrove Sarazen by 50 yards. They were both on in three, but Havers was dead to the cup and had laid the American a stymie. Sarazen missed his fourth and also his fifth and Havers sank for a four, finishing 3 down.

St. Mary's Ready To Meet Tailors Again

Sunday afternoon the Ambrose Tailors, presenting an array of greats and near greats of the professional baseball world, will meet the St. Mary's ball tossers at the college diamond. Each year Mr. Ambrose, aided and abetted by Al Earl, gathers together the choicest representatives of the minor leagues and these same players attempt to show the college lads how the great national game should be played.

"Curley" Gardiner, who has been convalescing from an attack of typhoid since the start of the season, is due to report for practice on Monday.

Santa Clara Meets Bruins At University

St. Mary's Shooters to Meet California Aggies at Local Court.

The California Bruins, having had ample time to recover from the effects of their two mid-week games against St. Mary's and the Alumni, will entertain the Santa Clara Bronco quintet tonight at Harmon gym at 8 o'clock.

Santa Clara comes with the reputation of having an unusually weak aggregation, having dropped their annual game to Stanford by a score of 27 to 16 and, since that time, having suffered another defeat at the hands of St. Ignatius college by a score of 26 to 14.

FAWKE IS BARRED.

Added to these two Coach Eddie Kienholz was the victim of a faculty ruling, issued Thursday night, prohibiting Moose Fawke, standing guard of the Missionite quintet, from participating in any more games off the Santa Clara campus until further notice, due to deficiency in scholarship.

With all these worries the Santa Clara coach holds but little hope of being able to make even a creditable showing, having started the season with but a shm squad from which to pick his material and having been handicapped during the early weeks by injury to Zent, his star center.

Zent is expected to perform tonight but no announcement has been made of the substitute who will replace Fawke at guard. There is a possibility that Malley, who served at center during Zent's absence, will be shifted to pair with Hal Toso at guard.

At the St. Mary's gym tonight the Saints' basketball team will continue its drive for the leadership of the small colleges and will meet the California Aggies' five in the first of two games, the second to be played at Davis next month. The Saints got a start on their competitors by handing the University of Nevada two defeats and from present indications it would appear that St. Ignatius and Saint Mary's will fight it out for the championship, although it is quite possible that either the Aggies or Santa Clara may upset affairs. Little is known of the strength of the Aggie team this year, although a program of athletic reconstruction under the guidance of W. L. Driver is being carried out at Davis. Several years ago the Aggies could hold their own with any team in the court game and if they have at last come out of their slump they will be dangerous contenders against the best of teams.

MADIGAN PLEASED.

Madigan, who is highly pleased with the showing of his squad against California Tuesday evening, has been working hard all week polishing up his offense for the Aggie game. The Saints' defense worked well against the attack of the Bears, but the Saints relied especially in the second half, too much on their defensive strength. In football a good offense is the best defense and the same is true of basketball. Madigan realizes this and accordingly is putting his men through the hardest kind of grind to make them adept at running up a score.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 26.—Ernie Gooseman, Pacific Coast featherweight, and Joey Sanger, local boxer, declare themselves in shape for their ten-round no-decision match here Monday night and have discontinued heavy training.

CANAL'S GREATEST YEAR.

The record of the Panama Canal for 1923 is no less than astounding. It proves that all of those predictions which were called extravagant in the days before the opening of the great locks were, in reality, modest estimates.

Last month 506 vessels passed through the canal, exceeding the previous high record (July, 1923 with 474 ships) by 32 vessels, or more than one a day. The average daily business was 16.32 ships. The total tolls collected for the single month was $2,325,791 which exceeds that of any month since the waterway was opened. It means that more than $75,000 a day was taken in by Uncle Sam as returns upon his investment in the Isthmus.

Taking the whole year, 1923 beat all others. There were 5037 ships to pass through the locks with an aggregate tonnage of close to 25 million tons. They carried over 25 million tons of cargo and paid 23 millions of dollars in tolls. In a single year the traffic increased 68.7 per cent; the tonnage 90.38 per cent; tons of cargo, 83.51 per cent; and tolls, 82.65 per cent.

Showing close to an exact balance, $11,534,022 was collected on tolls from vessels going from the Atlantic to the Pacific and $11,432,815 on those which journeyed the other way. In 1922 the Atlantic to Pacific tolls were a million dollars more than those from this ocean to the Atlantic. If the growth of the trade continues in the same relative manner, this year will see the West-to-East traffic exceed that of the East-to-West. A considerable part of this business is represented by oil tankers but the Asiatic commerce is also figuring.

The statement from the Canal Governor contains cause for Americans to be proud. It is justification of a large expenditure and proof of the vision and enterprise of the men who put through the large undertaking.

WOULD SHOOT AT THE MOON.

Once more Professor Robert H. Goddard of Clark University is calling attention to his sky-going rocket and his plans for a trip to the moon. The experiment, he says, will be made next summer.

Professor Goddard is in earnest. He believes implicitly that he has a fighting chance to reach the moon in a sky-rocket and that unless he makes the attempt this year someone else will beat him to it.

"The time is ripe," he says. "Whatever we do must be done this year. The other nations of the world are hard at it, and if the United States is to make the great step we must prepare to make it soon."

The average intelligence will see a large number of obstacles all of which the professor says he is prepared to conquer. He hopes that if he shoots the rocket out of the earth's atmosphere the gravity of the moon will suck it to that the destination is reached. As sky distances go, the moon is not far off but the professor will have to do some rapid traveling if he expects to get there before he starves on the way. Just how he is going to control the trip and the shock when he bumps into the moon are things he is keeping to himself. His theories of a return journey, when he proposes to do when he plants the flag on the moon, and how he is going to let the folks at home know of his success, would make interesting reading.

A careful perusal of the professor's announcement indicates that it may be a long time coming to send his rocket without a passenger to take a pot shot at the moon and work its way back. While this is, emphatically, the proper plan it is not new or original. Men have been shooting at the moon for years.

THE SURPRISING YOUNGSTER.

This modern generation of children has come in for so much of gratuitous criticism that it did a surprising thing in Berkeley the other day. Surprising, when one remembers the children of another day, but natural enough according to artistic standards, was the burst of applause which came from twenty-three hundred boys and girls when a symphony orchestra finished Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois."

Children, from the first grade to the high school, packed the gymnasium on the University campus to the doors, listened attentively to the program and were so enthusiastic that the orchestra broke an established rule and gave an encore.

Things like that did not happen in the old days. Then the child who was taken to a concert felt he was abused. There was no power that could prevent him from rattling his program, shifting his feet, and disturbing everyone around him. He was as much out of place as a gold fish in the desert.

It is not likely that the children of Berkeley are much different from those of any other city. The reason they applauded and enjoyed a program of good music may be found in the improvement in the educational system which has recognized music and given it place and attention. The weekly visit of a pompous music professor has been supplanted by an enjoyable daily treat which carries with it no signs of hard music. Music is not forced on the child in the manner of bad medicine. It is introduced to him, simply, as a friend and as he progresses in the grades he comes to know more of its depth, subtleties, and possibilities.

It was always considered axiomatic that a child should like music but the present younger generation is the first, in America at least, to prove he really does.

AND IT RAINED.

The weather predictions said "fair." The skies looked just as they had for a month or more of weather that was both beautiful and dry. Then the rain, with but a moment of warning sneaked up and paid a visit long overdue.

There are rains and rains, from the ones that spoil Sunday School picnics to those others which are termed million dollar downfalls. This one was gentle, persistent, and promising. It caused the business man to lower his awning and stand outside to watch the gray street turn black and glistening. The farmer took off his hat and let the drops beat upon his head. If it will only keep up he can get the plow out and turn the soil which should have been turned weeks ago. In terms of hay the shower is worth a fortune. The snow which fell in the mountains is worth another.

One of the longest dry spells the state has seen, and yet no longer than the one of six years ago is ended. If history repeats its 1918 chapter there will be enough rains from now on to make up for the early scarcity, there will be good crops, and an abundant water supply for drinking, irrigation and power.

The quaint and original spirit of Peter Newell, who died last week, will remain fresh so long as there are children to read the classics of story-land which he illustrated. It was natural that the whimsical turn in Newell should be attracted to Lewis Carroll and that he should put his efforts to the illustrating of "Alice in Wonderland." While the Tennell drawings have universality and tradition, Newell's were, perhaps, the greatest of any American attempts to adorn that favorite story.

The New York World says that the gain it sees in having the Democratic convention in that city is spiritual not financial. This may be regarded as one of the best cases of seeing on record.

Of course all of the paragraphers are united in the belief that it was Senator Caraway who planted the seed of suspicion in the Teapot Dome inquiry.

The LANTERN

OWL AND BUTTERFLY.

"I am old, wisely so,
I see in night's shadow
Things of the past,"
Quoth the aged owl.
"Age and deep age, my eyes outlast."

"I am young, rashly new,
I see in day's azure blue
Things of today."
Quoth the blithe butterfly.
"A day I live, then flutter away."

Life is old, and its tide ebbs cold,
Age looks backward to yesterday.
The future flies on blind bat's wing.
The owl sees life as a mindless thing,
Perplexity in shades of dusk portrayed.

Ah, butterfly, born of pleasant hours,
In your little day that glowed and thrilled
But faded so soon away,
Thou hast lived to brighten today for tomorrow,
And made life fuller, with thy careless joy.

—Elinor Valentine.

Gloat.

How good it was to be alive
When I was in my prime—
With cocktails two for twenty-five
And likker for a dime!

They say I misbehaved at times;
Perhaps I did, forsooth—
But think of all the coin I haved
By drinking in my youth!

J. F. M.

They're Yours, Lady.

Sir: I note from this morning's Lantern that you are contemplating destroying a number of love letters from which, to use your own words, you have gotten the last thrill.

Don't you think this is a frightful waste? Doesn't your conscience bother you at all?

I have thought out a much better solution to the problem. If you will instruct your secretary to put them all in a nice neat bundle I will have a boy call for them at any designated place on the Island of Manhattan. This will also save you a lot of time which you may devote to Chapter 2 of the g. A. n. which you are going to shoot forth shortly.

The material I glean from the perusal of these treasured billets-doux will be used in spreading happiness to other young men, who will probably get as much thrill out of them as you did.

—Virginia.

Stop Us If You've Heard It.

Yesterday we ran into an acquaintance at the door of a restaurant.

"Where are you going?" we asked, for he wore neither hat nor coat. He hiccupped elaborately and clutched our shoulder.

"Out," he said. "Out into great open spaces where women are women."

—Edward Hope.

HARD TO GROW OLD?

On a choice bit of stationery, penned by an unmistakable feminine hand, comes this appeal. "It is mighty hard for a woman to get old, and worse still to have the public know. Don't you think you could cut out wedding announcements from 'Twenty-five Years Ago Today?' Current events are all right. Women folks don't like that kind of publicity."

No rule of human conduct applies with equal force to everyone and to every condition. Doubtless there are some for whom a wedding anniversary is anything but a pleasurable memory. It is not possible to pick out those from among the hundreds and abolish the observance of wedding anniversaries entirely for their benefit.

Not many months ago we witnessed the celebration of a golden wedding. The proudest persons we have ever seen were those who called in their neighbors and friends to rejoice with them in the fact that they had lived together fifty years, sharing adversity and prosperity, pleasures and sorrows, and had reared a family of boys of whom they were proud and who were a credit to the community. They were not ashamed that they had grown old. No person is ashamed of it if they grow old as they should.

It is hard to grow old if one resists the encroaching years and insists on retaining the buoyancy and suppleness of youth, but age is inevitable if life endures. Age is supposed to be synonymous with wisdom, discretion and patience. It is not hard to grow old if one will accept age as a crown with each year a star brilliant with good deeds. — Memphis News-Scimitar.

His Own Opinion.

Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge leaned over his rickety fence and nonchalantly contemplated a covered wagon which was being snailed along the big road by a yoke of oxen.

"Howdy!" he saluted when the compage finally arrived in front of his residence. "Whur are you going to?"

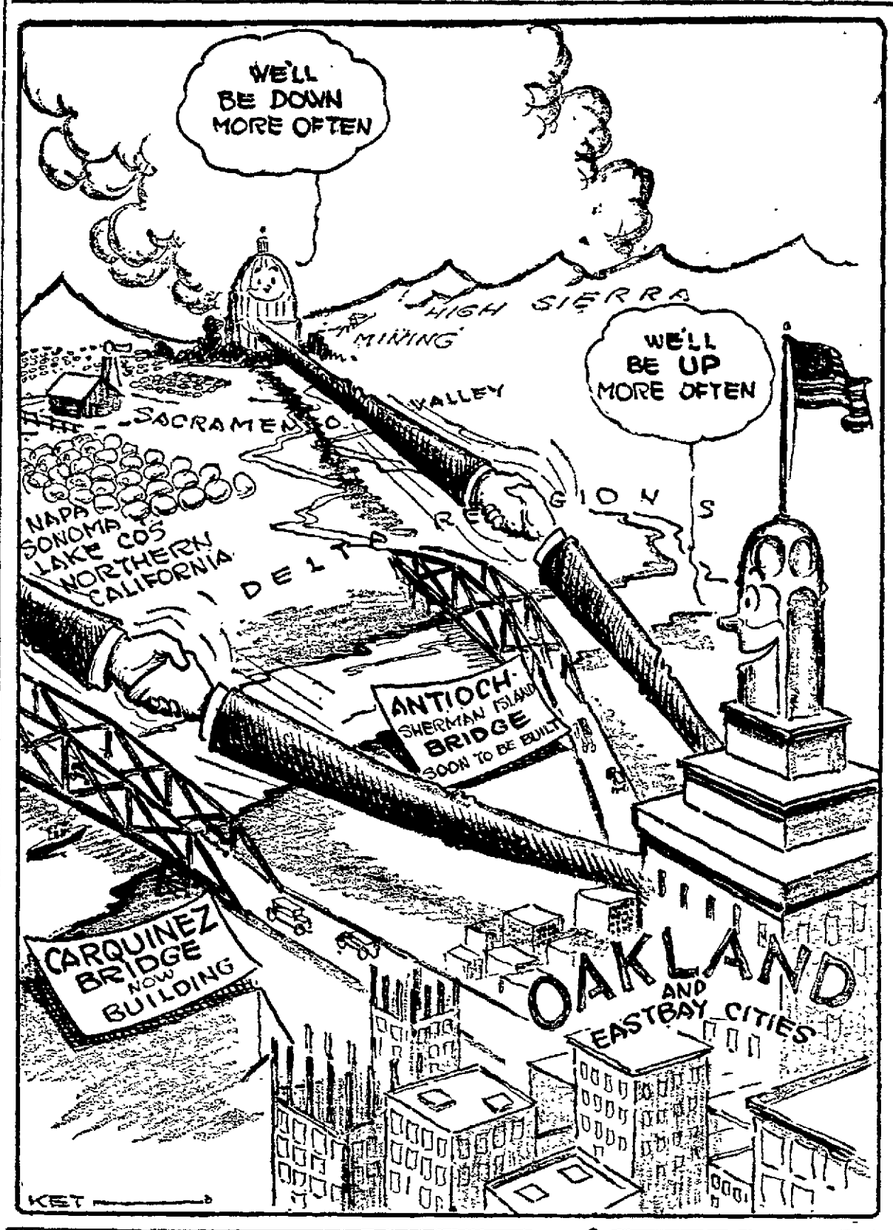
"Well, I'll tell you," responded the venerable man who walked beside the oxen. "I loaded up my family and one thing and another a spell ago, aiming to go to Oklahoma, as it were. But I've had to turn out'n the road and stop so often to let automobiles, wagons and so forth, go by, and then prob'ly got stuck in the mud and had a dickens of a time in dragging out and getting started ag'in, that, all things considered, I don't reckon I'm going no place."—Kansas City Star.

Most Effective.

"I suppose, Henry," said the old gentleman to his new son-in-law, "it was an awful shock to you when you found that the check for two thousand dollars I put among your wedding presents was merely for effect."

"Oh, yes, sir," responded the cheerful Henry, "and the effect was excellent. The bank cashed it this morning without a word!"—Vanity Fair.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA IS GOING STRAIGHT AHEAD



EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Portland Oregonian: "All that Dr. Thomas H. Gallagher said of divorce, in his recent sermon, is true beyond dispute. This is, indeed, an evil that has grown through toleration to well-nigh intolerable proportions and aspects. It is a moral illness spreading gradually throughout the social body and contaminating all it touches, until it creates strange reactions of crime—not directly traceable to divorce in many instances, but induced by the general weakening of the moral fiber of society. To score divorce too severely is impossible, and as a national problem it merits constructive discussion looking toward uniformity in divorce and marriage laws."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Having failed to obtain the Democratic national convention, there is no city to which St. Louis would rather see the convention go than New York. New York is entitled to the convention. It has been ignored by the Democrats for fifty-six years, although within that time it has been the hope and occasionally the mainstay of Democracy. In every election since the Civil War in which the Democrats have been successful, except one, New York has cast its vote for the Democratic candidate."

New York Times: "To senatorial insurrectos there is no such thing as cause and effect. Everything is conspiracy. Things do not happen to the farmer's prices because of economic law. They happen because a number of Wall Street bankers get together around a table and proceed to skin the farmer. Senator Brookhart has raised his voice against the vile propaganda that is now under way to create the popular impression that the American farmer is prosperous. Actually, according to Brookhart, 23 per cent of the farmers in fifteen northwestern states are insolvent, and it is his belief that the ratio would hold true for the whole country."

New York Times: "If the state boxing law had operated more in the interests of patrons of the sport and less for the gain of promoters, boxers and their parasites, the agitation for repeal could not have made much headway. Though it has been accelerated by the death of a boxer recently, the reason is not to be found in an average of fatalities proving that professional boxing is brutal and so hazardous that it should not be permitted. The contrary is the case. Throughout the year thousands of exhibitions are held, but rarely is a contestant seriously injured."

Salt Lake Tribune: "Senator Hiram Johnson at Detroit repeats his Chicago attack on the administration and policies of President Coolidge, plus a few observations concerning what may be expected if and when the United States finds Mr. Johnson occupying the White House. It is the burden of the coast senator's argument that the present Republican administration, like its immediate predecessor, has accomplished nothing worth while and has no policy which promises anything of benefit for the country."

New York Herald: "Science is now about to produce a new vegetable which is the result of combining the tomato and the potato. Satisfactory as the result may be, there will always remain in the mind a lurking suspicion that only art could have been responsible for such beloved combinations as macaroni and cheese, ham and eggs and corned beef and cabbage."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

Shasta county paid out of its treasury for the past fiscal year for coyote hides approximately $5000. In all likelihood it will increase this amount during the current year. The question at once arises whether it is worth this amount to the county, and whether we are getting any closer to the extermination of the pest than when there was no premium.—Redding Searchlight.

Bulla Singh, Hindu, was arrested after he had offered Sheriff McCoy $20, and when a thorough search of premises occupied by him revealed a large quantity of jackass in a large number of jugs and other containers. Patrolman A. E. Allread was boosted through an opening in a ceiling to gain entrance to the place, and first had to fight off a watchdog in an adjoining room.—Marysville Appeal.

The poorest duck season for many years closed January 15th. The clear dry weather of the fall and early winter is given as the reason few ducks were found to shoot at. The game has kept to salt water almost entirely, driven there by the lack of feed along streams where they are normally found in rainy seasons.—Lompoc Review.

Large families still seem to be the order of the day in California, despite the lamentations of alarmists over the race suicide question. According to birth statistics compiled by L. E. Ross, head of the State Bureau of Statistics, during the past year 698 women had their tenth child. And more than half of these were native-born Americans.—Los Angeles Times.

Donald Younger, in a letter from Paris, tells of the illness of Thomas Lee Woolwine, and of how a man he had sentenced in California, of French extraction, had given a quart of blood for transfusion.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Until it comes time to get a new high tariff on lemons, we do not expect to hear a great deal from our old acquaintance "Silent" Sam Shortridge.—Hanford Sentinel.

What actual result can be expected from the petition over two miles long, and bearing the signatures of 345,000 farmers, recently presented to congress in behalf of economy and reduction of taxes. But the persons paid to circulate it may have found it a good income producer.—Sacramento Bee.

When Chief of Police Vollmer went to Los Angeles some months ago we said this man's career in the southern metropolis would be worth following closely. It has been.—Bakersfield Californian.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

"MY SON."

He's supposed to be our son, our hope and our pride.
In him all the dreams of our future abide.
But whenever some act to his credit occurs
I never am mentioned, the glory is "hers."
And whenever he's bad or has strayed from the line,
Then always she speaks of the rascal as "mine."

When trouble has come she will soberly say:
"Do you know what YOUR son has been up to today?
Your son spilled the ink on the living room floor!
Your son broke the glass in the dining room door!
I am telling you now something has to be done,
It is high time you started correcting your son!"

But when to the neighbors she boasts of his worth,
It is: "My son's the best little boy on the earth!"
Accuse him of mischief, she'll just floor you flat
With: "My son, I'm certain, would never do that!
Of course, there are times when he's wilfully bad,
But then it's that temper he gets from his dad!"

A REVELATION.

When four years ago the Democratic convention was held in San Francisco, the United States of America was a revelation to some of our esteemed friends who believed the world was bounded on the south by the Battery and the north by the Bronx, even although they had heard vaguely of Chicago, and French Lick was a place to which good Democrats went for rest and conference and the benefits of its healing waters. The spacious west amazed men of whom Fourteenth street was the center of empire and Albany the seat of power. That jeweled city of the Pacific, high on its crested hills, brought them understanding. It was a long way from Broadway, but it was still America, with all her marvelous achievements and all her limitless possibilities. They had come 3000 miles to gaze upon a fair city, whose people thought as they did, who who had the same aspirations, who were as proud of Market street as New York was of Broadway in her younger days. The Californian, not quite sure it was wise to believe all he had heard, was puzzled when he found that the easterner was only another such man as he.—New York World.

Old But Always Good.

A young lady sat next to a distinguished bishop at a church dinner. She was rather awed by the bishop's presence. For some time she hesitated to speak to him. Finally, seeing some bananas passed, she seized the opportunity to start conversation with him and said:

"I beg your pardon, but are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop was slightly deaf, and leaning toward her, replied:

"Pardon me, but what did you say?"

"I said," repeated the young lady, blushing furiously, "do you like bananas?"

The bishop pondered the question gravely for a moment, and then answered: "It is a curious question, but if you wish my honest opinion, I have always preferred the old-fashioned night shirt."—Harper's Weekly.

LENIN FULFILLED TOLSTOI'S PROPHECY

Editor of The Tribune:

Admirable editorial, that, in The TRIBUNE of the 24th inst., treating of Lenin and his passing.

History will place Lenin in the galaxy of materful men whom the great World War developed; however widely divergent the opinions of his contemporaries as to the influence and effect, his remarkable career had on the political and economical thoughts.

Lenin was unquestionably the personification of the man whom Count (peasant) Leo Tolstoi visioned in his now-proved prophecy as to the World War, and its results in and upon Russia. As near as now recalled that prophecy was:

"Revolution will overthrow and destroy government of the Romanoffs, and there will come out of the north a Slav, who will dictate and dominate the policies of the new Russia, and will influence the governmental and economic policies of the new Europe."

Who will equestion the accuracy of this forecast in the light of existing facts?

INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM.

If we really want intellectual freedom, we must submit to a more liberal cultivation. We must get to know science when we are young or still capable of acquiring standards. We shall then be able, later, to tolerate her as she is and extend the hand that welcomes poetry. Science also springs from a broodiness of mind; is likewise the infiltration of reality with dreams. In both instances the materials are merely the commonplaces of this world, only the imagery and the sensuous masks accepted by the poet on his own terms in the scientist flaunt a different challenge to the intellect. We may like them or not; understand them we must. "Make us over," they seem to say, "and reduce us if you can to terms acceptable in the domain of reason."—North American Review.

WHELAN AND ASSOCIATES FACE ACTION

Directors in Companies Run by Accused Broker Find Assets Tied Up by Injunction; Few Heavy Investors

A number of prominent business men of Oakland today had certain of their assets tied up by a temporary injunction issued by Superior Judge James G. Quinn in connection with a suit filed against Ray J. Whelan, stock broker now in the city prison for alleged violation of the corporation securities act, and the directors of various companies of which he was said to be the head.

According to Deputy District Attorney Donald McClure, who filed the suit on behalf of Mrs. Dorothea O. Nichols and her son, H. Halleen, proprietors of the Chimes Candy Shop, 5635 College avenue, a number of prominent citizens served as directors of the R. J. Whelan Co., the Great Western Automobile Finance company, and other organizations said to have been formed by Whelan. McClure said that the suit filed against Whelan and his organizations also held the directors responsible, and that the assets of a number of people with respect to their transactions with Whelan are bound by the restraining order of the court.

CITED TO APPEAR.

The order states that Whelan and others involved in the suit must appear in court Friday to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued against them.

According to McClure, among those who will be required to appear in court are: H. C. Brown, 3267 San Pablo avenue, roofing contractor; A. D. Thomson, attorney for Whelan; A. W. Lure, 2530 Regent street, Berkeley; D. T. Sexton, Builders' Exchange; H. C. Morrison, Bacon building; H. N. Grover, Wells Fargo building, San Francisco; I. Cowan, 4612 Manila avenue.

McClure said that Brown and Thomson were named because they were supposed to have received large securities from Whelan within the last few days, and the remainder were supposed to be directors of various companies organized by Whelan.

SOME HEAVY INVESTORS.

The complaint filed by Mrs. Nichols alleges that she gave Whelan $5000 on a promisory note on August 18, 1923. She said the face of the note called for interest at 8 per cent, which Whelan is alleged to have said was the maximum allowable by law, but that through a private agreement Whelan guaranteed to pay her $275 a month as income from the $5000. She said she received the $275 for two months, but nothing more after that. By other arrangements Whelan induced her to make other investments, she said, so that in all she placed $15,000 in Whelan's hands.

McClure said that at a meeting of various investors held in the Syndicate building this week there were fifty people present, none of whom had invested less than $10,000 with Whelan, and some of whom had invested as much as $25,000.

WILL BE HEARD FRIDAY.

Since the matter affects the savings of a number of people of the Eastbay, McClure said there would undoubtedly be an interesting assembly in court Friday when the application for the permanent injunction is heard.

Following the declaration of Whelan that another man and not he got most of the money from his transactions with Oakland investors, the police today began a search for a John Leaker. So far their search has not revealed a trace of any such individual.

Whelan appearing before Police Judge Jack Harder, was returned to custody upon failure to raise $10,000 bail. His preliminary hearing has been set for February 2.

Doctor, Lured by Fake Call, Robbed

Responding to a fake sick call at a late hour last night, Dr. R. F. Tisdale, 3529 Grove street, was held up and robbed by two youths at 863 Thirty-eighth street. The telephone call purported to come from the home of a man named Bates, at 863 Thirty-eighth street, and stated that there was a sick baby at that address.

When Dr. Tisdale attempted to find the address he discovered that it was a vacant lot. As he was preparing to return home two men stepped up and covered him with revolvers. They took his keys and his purse, containing about $40. After robbing the doctor they jumped into a waiting auto and sped away. The robbers appeared to be about 20 years old.

Yeggs Dynamite Safe, Wreck Office, But Miss Money

CRACKSMEN BLOW SAFE, RUIN OFFICE, SLAY WATCH-DOG

Using many times the necessary amount of nitro-glycerine, cracksmen, evidently unskilled, blasted open one safe in the offices of the Sierra Club Beverage Company, 131 Second street, early this morning, but obtained little of value. The office was wrecked, windows blown out, the safe door hurled forty feet through two partitions, and all the interior furnishings of the building destroyed by the explosion.

Evidence that the burglary had been planned for several days is found in the fact that the watch-dog, "Andy," which had been kept in the building for many months, was poisoned yesterday. Meat covered with strychnine had been shoved under a rear door Thursday night, and the dog was found dead Friday morning.

The Sierra Club Beverage Company is a partnership composed of L. F. and H. W. Seibert. They told Inspectors Harry Evers and J. C. R. MacDonald of the Oakland police force that no burglary insurance was carried on the building. Sometimes as much as $200 was left in the two safes at the close of business, but they believe that the bulk of the money is in the other safe.

An attempt had been made to blow the second safe. The combination dial had been pounded off and the safe turned on its side. The second safe was too heavy for the burglars to move, even with the aid of a hand truck. They apparently became frightened and abandoned the work after the first explosion.

A long bar wrench used as a crow-bar, a pair of blacksmith's pincers and other tools were left behind by the burglars. Some clothing and a few bottles of various soft drinks were stolen.

Entrance was gained by cutting the glass from a front window, which is in full light of a street-light less than 150 feet distant, and opens directly onto the Second street sidewalk. The burglars left the building through a rear door, which they unlocked from the inside.

U. S. Court Cases Pile Up in State

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Federal court cases have become so numerous in the northern district of California there is enough work to keep four or five judges busy, the department of justice was told today by George Burnham, chief deputy United States marshal, who arrived here from San Francisco with federal prisoners. The increase, he stated, is due to violations of prohibition and narcotic laws. One judge, he thought, ought to be assigned permanently at Sacramento instead of holding court there only occasionally.

Bulletin Publisher Gets Sister's Estate

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—By the terms of her will filed for probate, Robert Alexander Crothers, publisher of the San Francisco Bulletin, has been placed in complete control of the estate of his sister, Mrs. Rose Pickering, who died Sunday. The value of the estate is not given but is said to consist principally of a half interest in the paper, apartment house property, a ranch in Alameda county and realty elsewhere.

Crothers is to serve without bond, to receive $700 a month during his lifetime and, at his death, this stipend and the control of the estate passes to Mrs. Pickering's son, Major Loring Pickering and from him to his children. The will is dated April 12, 1922 and shows that a contract was entered into two days previously between Mrs. Pickering and Crothers whereby Major Pickering is to be made executive editor of the Bulletin.

FORMER SALOON MAN ARRESTED

"Con" Donovan, whose "place" on Telegraph avenue just across the line from Berkeley was famous among University of California students of the generation just preceding prohibition, was arrested today with his son, Henry C. Donovan, on a charge of bootlegging.

The father and son were taken into custody in a raid on their home 527 Alcatraz avenue, by members of the "dry" squad, headed by Sergeant E. F. Brock, and including Policemen E. F. Murphy, George Pardee and L. C. Smith. The four officers were armed with a search warrant which they had obtained after one of them had bought a drink, it is alleged, in Donovan's home.

A bar was found in the pantry, according to the police. Near it were found 12 bottles of "Scotch," five gallons of wine, a bottle of gin, and a gallon of corn whisky.

The Donovans were charged with violating the Wright Act, and were released on $500 cash bail each.

BOOZE FILE WAS STOLEN, EDY CLAIMS

Probe Started by Berkeley's City Manager to Discover How Rationing of Whisky to Police Became Public

BERKELEY, Jan. 26.—A new investigation to determine who took the private file containing a confidential report on the dispensing of liquor to Berkeley police during the Berkeley fire, from the office of the chief of police or from that of City Manager John N. Edy, was started today by Edy. The report, he declares, was not released for publication, but was taken from the offices by some person not authorized to have access to it.

Edy today stated that he would not make the statement on the police situation which he promised yesterday. He said he would wait until he had endeavored to determine who abstracted the files, and probably would issue the statement next week.

That liquor was dispensed in "rations" as "stimulants" for members of the Berkeley police department during the fire of September 17, 1923, was disclosed today.

A statement made shortly after the fire by Chief of Police C. D. Lee and Captain J. A. Greening to City Manager Edy was made public. In the statement the two police officials take full responsibility for the dispensing of whisky and declare that the long vigils of police officers, many of them extending for 48 hours without sleep, made such action necessary.

REGULAR RATION SERVED.

After reciting that whisky was served all local and outside police officers twice daily and once during the night, Chief Lee and Captain Greening in their joint report to Edy concluded with the assertion:

"If we erred, it was an error of judgment and ont of the heart, and an error, we believe has not seriously detracted from the results attained."

The statement of the police executives in sanctioning the dispensing of whisky to patrolmen reads:

"A one ounce glass of whisky was dispensed to all (local and outside) police officers desiring it twice during their daily tour of duty—when they reported on and when they reported off; and during the night watch food and a glass of whisky were served by a sergeant of the local force to the men on their beats. The liquor dispensed was medicinal whisky secured through the proper channels.

INTOXICATION DENIED.

"We believe that where a large body of men are employed in a strenuous undertaking which taxes their endurance to the utmost it is not uncommon practice to give them small doses of stimulant, such as was done in the world war, as a safeguard against sickness and a relief from physical fatigue.

"During the period there was no intoxication among members of the local force and none among members of the outside force while on duty.

"Under ordinary conditions such a practice would not have been countenanced nor thought of; our force has always been reputed a clean body of men, ready and willing to give their best to the public. But this was no ordinary situation. We assume full responsibility for the dispensing of liquor done regularly through our sergeants and for the conduct of our own men. Over the outside force, whose views on the question may be more liberal, we could not exercise the same supervision as with our own men."

City Golf Links Soaked by Rain; Play Suspended

Superintendent Wishes to Take Full Advantage of Moisture; May Close.

The golf links were closed to the public today. The road was closed, and adventurers who manage to get to the club-house will be turned back.

The Press club tournament, scheduled for tomorrow, is cancelled.

In order that every advantage be taken of the present rains, Superintendent Jay Nash today ordered all persons to keep off the links for a long time, or until every vestige of mosture has disappeared from the ground. Nash says he is now considering the closing down of the links several weeks, though that is not decided.

"The rain is a godsend to the links," says Nash. "We'll take every advantage of it. Greens and fairways are soft now, and there will be every chance of improving the whole property if we keep off it for a while."

The saving to the city, in water bills, is estimated at several hundred dollars.

MAYORS TO SEE PAGEANT OPENING

A. R. Talbot, head consul of the Modern Woodmen of America, located in Lincoln, Nebraska, Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Mayor Davie of Oakland and the mayors of fourteen other cities, have been invited as special guests of the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors of America at the Cinderella Circus and Ball to be given in the Oakland Auditorium tomorrow evening.

The program for the evening included the Cinderella pageant with Thelma Williams, Hazel Rogers, Selma Mallory, Izola Westfall, Pansy Spring, Lillie Myers, Mrs. J. S. Spires, Ella Locke, Eletha Westfall, Thomas Watson and Mrs. Preston Rosier participating. Allen McPhee has been selected as the king. One of the features of the entertainment will be a Cinderella contest in which shoe orders will be given to the women with the best proportioned feet. There are no qualifications connected with the contest. Every woman in attendance will be invited to participate.

HOSPITAL STAFF TO MEET.

The next meeting of the Merritt Hospital staff will be on Monday, February 4, at 8.15 p. m. The program will be as follows: Paper on tumors of the breast by Dr. Wm. Mitchell; discussion on the subject of state medicine.

P. T. A. SPONSORS DANCE.

The Laurel Parent Teacher association will sponsor a Leap Year dance in the school auditorium tonight. The committee on arrangements has completed plans for a large community party.

Microphones to Be Installed So That Every One of 2500 Guests at the Community Feast Can Hear Speaker

Modern invention will play a big part at the community dinner, Wednesday evening, January 30, at the Municipal auditorium when the Chamber of Commerce and civic clubs of the Eastbay will meet to celebrate a year of prosperity in Oakland.

Twenty-five hundred people will attend the meeting and every person will be able to hear the speakers, the music and the special numbers—heretofore impossible on account of the immense size of the auditorium.

The Western Electric company, as a special favor to the chamber, is installing its public address system especially for this meeting. A half dozen microphones will pick up the speaker's voice and the music and convey them to an adjoining room where they will be amplified through a control panel, returned to the auditorium over wires and released through a series of four speakers suspended from the top of the building.

Large meetings in the auditorium have been unsatisfactory in the past on account of the inability of the speaker to make himself heard, but with the assistance of the amplifiers, about 24 in number, every part of the program will be heard in the galleries as distinctly as at the speakers' table.

A corps of army officers will attend the dinner. Colonel A. J. Eddy and Major Charles I. Anderson have reserved a section and are sending a general invitation to officers holding commissions in the regular army and the National Guard. Those holding commissions as reserve officers also are invited.

Major Anderson has been working on the plan for several days, and, with the assistance of Colonel Eddy, Major John U. Calkins and Major Harry Huber, he expects to have present practically every commissioned officer in the Eastbay. Those desiring to attend can communicate with the Chamber of Commerce or get in touch with either Colonel Eddy or Major Anderson.

CLERKS GIVE WHIST PARTY.

Retail Clerks' Union, Local 47, will give a whist party on next Tuesday evening, at N. S. G. W. hall, Eleventh and Clay streets, to its members and friends. This organization is also carrying on an effective campaign at the present time, appealing to the buying public to shop before 6 o'clock p. m. every day of the week.

Great Northern Head Says Rates Can Only Come With Taxes.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 26.—Lessening of the burden of taxation borne by the public generally and avoidance by Congress of new or amendatory laws further hampering the railroads is essential to further rate reductions, Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, emphasized in a statement of the results of 1923 operations of the transcontinental system.

The Great Northern suffered from the high operating costs—$9,300,000 of which were taxes—so that, despite one of the best years in the history of the company as to the volume of business handled, the net return for the year 1923 was only 4¾ per cent, the report said.

Gross revenues of the Great Northern for 1923 were $120,000,000 but operating expenses totaled $86,000,000 and after the deduction of taxes and rents, there was left but $24,700,000 in net railway operating income. Income from other sources, including dividends from the Burlington road, half of which is owned by the Great Northern, brought the total income for 1923 to $35,000,000. But payment of $17,000,000 in interest left only $18,000,000 equals $7.22 a share for the year to the 46,000 stockholders, the majority of whom are persons of small means and many of whom are employees.

St. Louis Trade Gains 18 Per Cent

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 26.—Business of St. Louis firms increased $250,000,000 or 18 per cent in 1923 over the previous year, according to figures of the chamber of commerce, just issued. The grand total is estimated at $1,633,371,462. The increase in men's clothing sold was 35 per cent, with a total of $32,000,000. Sales of boots and shoes amounted to $210,000,000, a gain of $20,000,000. The milling industry showed a gain of $9,000,000, and a total of $41,000,000. Electrical manufacturers gained $10,000,000, rising to a total of $60,000,000, and dry goods sales improved from $132,000,000 to $150,000,000.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Downturns in the price of corn resulted right at the outset today from government reports showing fewer hogs on farms than a year ago. General selling on the part of commission houses took place. However, the fact that one of the chief of yesterday's sellers started to buy at 79¾c for May helped to check the break in prices. Country offerings to Chicago remained small. The opening, which ranged from ⅛c to ⅜c lower, May 79⅝c to 79¾c, was followed by a drop which carried May down to 79⅝@79½c.

Wheat and oats sympathized with corn weakness. Higher quotations on wheat at Liverpool had only a temporary effect on the wheat market here. After opening at ⅛c off to ¼c up, May $1.09 to $1.09¼ and July $1.07¼ to $1.07⅜, wheat sagged all around to below yesterday's finish.

Oats started ⅛c to ⅜c lower, May 48⅛c to 48⅜c, and later declined a little more.

Provision, influenced by corn and hogs, were easier.

SHIPS AND SHIPPING

News of Oakland Waterfront

Edited by FRANK CLIFF.

OAKLAND GETS CARGO OF BONES FROM ARGENTINE

Ship Board Freighter Brings Fertilizer Here From South America.

Bones and fertilizer collected from the pampas of Argentine formed the cargo of the shipping board freighter, West Camargo, which arrived in port from Buenos Aires yesterday.

The vessel will probably be a week in discharging at the Parr Terminal in the outer harbor. The West Camargo is consigned to Swayne and Hoyt and is one of the steamers placed on the east coast South American run following the removal of the President Harrison and President Hayes upon their sale to the Dollar line. The cargo is consigned to the Pacific Bone and Fertilizer company.

Parr's also handled the cargo from Lancaster yesterday. This was from the Atlantic coast and consisted mainly of tin plate and general merchandise. From Oakland the Lancaster is headed north to Puget Sound ports to gather her return cargo.

U. S. Cable Ship Off to London for 1000 Mile Cable

When the U. S. cable ship Dellwood steams from Seattle tomorrow afternoon for London to load 1000 miles of cable, to be used in the laying of the new line between Seattle and Alaska, the vessel will have 1000 tons of bulk wheat in her five steel cable tanks. The wheat, which will be carried in the nature of ballast, is being loaded at the Hanford street terminal of the Port Commission. She is expected to return to Seattle about May 1. The first stretch of the new cable will be laid from Seattle to Ketchikan, Alaska. The Dellwood will carry a total of 110 men, including U. S. signal corps personnel and a crew of 63.

L. A. Concern Is Awarded Wrecks

VALLEJO, Jan. 25.—The bid of the Flynn Salvage Company of Santa Monica for the hulls of the seven destroyers wrecked at Honda last fall, has been accepted by the department. The bid was $1600, and work starts on the salvage operations during the next week or so.

WEATHER REPORT

Oakland and vicinity, Northern California, Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joquin: Fair tonight and Sunday; moderate southeasterly winds.

Southern California: Increasing cloudiness; probably rain tonight and Sunday; moderate southerly winds.

Nevada and Idaho: Cloudy tonight; Sunday, rain or snow.

Oregon and Washington: Rain tonight and Sunday; moderate southeasterly winds.

CONDITIONS.

The North Pacific storm is moving slowly southeastward and has caused rain over the Pacific States from the Tehachapi northward, with cloudy weather in the Plateau. Generous rains have fallen in the Sacramento Valley and San Francisco bay region, and light rain in the San Joaquin and Salinas Valleys. Snow has fallen in the northeastern states. In other sections of the country the weather is fair. The outlook is for rain in the Pacific States tonight and Sunday and rain or snow in the Plateau.

The Oakland Tribune is a member of The Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Oakland Tribune as well as every other memebr of the association, endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads, and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standards of honesty

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of R To Let is numbered 20 to 29 numbers appear on the headings. so if you seek room and board look through the "20s", "Board" is No 25, and always follows Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

MASQUE TO DEDICATE CHEST CAMPAIGN TONIGHT

MILLS GIRLS TO BE SEEN IN ALLEGORY

150 Students to Take Part in Civic Auditorium Masque in Behalf of Welfare Work Which Starts on Tuesday

Oakland's 1924 Community Chest will be dedicated this evening at the Municipal Auditorium with an allegoricaal masque. "The House of Friendship in the City off Shining Towers," in which 150 Mills College students will take part.

The masque is a dedication of Oakland to a concentrated nine-day effort on behalf of the great program of relief and welfare work that will begin with the opening of the Community Chest campaign Tuesday, according to William Harold Oliver, campaign chairman. It is free to the public, and no solicitations will be made or contributions asked. The Community Chest team organizations, including approximately 4500 workers will attend. Sections will be reserved for division workers until 8:10, when they will be thrown open to the public. A corps of 25 Mills College girls, directed by Eleanor Boone, will act as ushers.

The production is an allegory portraying the spirit of giving and is presented with elaborate medieval settings and costumes. It shows characters in the procession of life passing through the city helping and being helped by each other. The production was written especially for the dedication of the Chest this year by Professor E. O. James of the English Department at Mills.

The prelude will be read by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt and 150 students will take part in the interlude. Mrs. Marian Stebbins is directing the production, assisted by Helen West, and a corps of students have designed and made costumes and scenery and arranged the music. They include: Helen Tapper, Gertrude Gerrish, Lenore Glen, Martha Faull, Catherine Easterling, Catherine Urner and Ethel Lawson.

CONTEMPT EDICT HELD UNLAWFUL

The language which Fred Lake used in moving for a change of venue in a case in which he was a defendant was not contemptuous of the dignity of the court, according to the decision of the second district court of appeals in a decision handed down yesterday by which Lake wins his liberty from a sentence of fifty days imposed by Superior Judge T. W. Harris.

Lake purchased a home several years ago and placed thereon a trust deed in favor of an Oakland bank. The bank sought to foreclose the trust deed and Lake has been fighting in court for several months seeking to prevent this. Lake demanded a change of venue of place of trial recently. In making his demand he charged that one of the Oakland title companies and the bank in question had interlocking boards of directors. He further charged that Judge Harris was a member of the board of directors of the title company. He alleged that "Harris the judge would be unable to ... oree himself from Harris the title company director" and that therefore he would not be able to sit impartially in the case.

Judge Harris found this language to be contempt of court and sentenced Lake to fifty days in jail.

HAYWARD

Hayward Legion Is Host to Bay Fellows

HAYWARD, Jan. 26.—With approximately 150 visitors present, a stag party and smoker was given by the Hayward American Legion Post at Dania hall last night—marking the inauguration of an active season and the revival of the post after an extended period of idleness. Members of the Forty and Eight, units connected with the various legion posts of Alameda county, and the San Leandro Legion Post No. 117, were the guests of honor at the occasion.

A program of entertainment, including vocal and instrumental numbers, comedy acts and dancing numbers, was presented at the outset of the evening, followed by a banquet. Tobacco was distributed in large quantities. Hugo Frank, newly elected commander, was chairman of arrangements.

Billed as one of the features of the occasion, a four round boxing bout between Jack Fiedderman and Walter Trobec, both Hayward residents and legion members, representing the army and navy, respectively, was called off because of injuries to Trobec's right hand.

Hayward Couple Wed at Alvarado

HAYWARD, Jan. 26.—After a brief honeymoon, spent in the southern part of California, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lemos, married at Alvarado this week, will be at home on First street, Hayward, within the next week or ten days.

The couple were united in marriage at St. Anne's church, Alvarado. The bride was Miss Mary Margaret Rivers, daughter of Mrs. M. Rivers, of that city, well known among the younger set and in fraternal circles of Hayward. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lemos, also of Alvarado.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father J. Casey in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Miss Rita Rivers, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Edward Lemos, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

Hayward I. O. O. F. Officers Installed

HAYWARD, Jan. 26.—New officers of the Hayward Odd Fellows, Sycamore Lodge No. 129, have been installed as follows: Ray Underhill, past grand; H. Stein, noble grand; A. Bell, vice-grand; Shirley Nelson, secretary. A. Neudeck, financial secretary; Hans Henningsen, treasurer; A. Valson, warden; C. White, conductor; C. Madsen, chaplain; J. Thiele, right seam support; W. Gavin, left seam support; G. Christensen, right support to the noble grand; A. Rasmussen, left support to the noble grand; Clarence Manon, right support to the vice-grand; C. Coffman, left support to the vice-grand; L. Davis, inside guardian; Jack Fiedderman, outside guardian.

The installation was conducted by a recently organized drill team, composed of sixteen Hayward members, under the leadership of George Christensen, district deputy. The team will function in this district.

FUNERAL OF CHILD HELD.

HAYWARD, Jan. 26.—Funeral services for little Elaine Frances Ferreira, residents of San Ramon Valley, near here, were held from a local undertaking establishment yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Requiem high mass, for the repose of her soul, was said at the Hayward All Saints' Catholic church. Interment was at St. Joseph's cemetery, this city.

SAN LEANDRO

Sisters Will Wed At Double Ceremony

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 26.—A double wedding will take place in St. Leander's church tomorrow morning when the Misses May and Florence Coite, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. Coite, 435 Callan avenue will become the brides of August Andarde and Frank S. Costa respectively. Following the ceremony a dinner will be served at the home of the parents of the brides, after which the quartet will depart for southern California on a honeymoon trip. On their return they will live at 359 Callan avenue.

Y. M. I. Lodge to Have Initation

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 26.—Initiation of a large class of candidates will take place at a meeting of the local Y. M. I., Monday evening at St. Joseph's hall. It is expected that members from the various Y. M. I. lodges of the Eastbay will attend. The initiating team from Council No. 8, Y. M. I. will put on the initiation. Preparations are made to have representatives from the local lodge take part in the Y. M. I. day which will be held in Oakland on February 22. The program for this affair includes athletics during the day with dancing in the afternoon and evening.

DR. COLEMAN RETURNS.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 26.—Dr. Charles L. Coleman has returned from a trip to Rochester, Minn., where he underwent a serious operation. He is reported very much better. On the trip he was accompanied by his wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Coleman and Dr. George L. Coleman, his brother.

Whist Party to Aid Old People's Home

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 26.—A whist party will be given this evening at the U. P. E. C. hall for the benefit of the Orphanage and Old Peoples Home at Fayal, Azores. The committee in charge is headed by Mrs. A. Perry, and she is assisted by the following: Mesdames M. E. Enos Freitas, Anna Leal, Isabel G. Luiz, J. Chrysostomo, Mae Madeira, Anna Williams, Mamie Enos Roposo, Minnie Ramos, Marie George, Mary Olimpia.

Packing Firm Sued By Former Employee

The accusations that W. R. Service, president of the Service Packing company, and other officers of the concern made false and fraudulent statements that he would be given a permanent position and receive large dividends if he purchased 80 shares of stock in the company, are made by Ernest Rhode in a suit on file today in superior court. Rhode says he was discharged last April and that the dividends have not been paid. He asks that the $800 be refunded. The complain is filed by Attorneys Dunn, White and Aiken.

BANK ATTACK TALE RETOLD BY ANDRADE

Former Bank of Italy Teller Rehearses Details of Alleged Assault in Suit to Recover $160,000 Damages

With the filing of a deposition in the superior court there have been brought to light for the first time details of charges made by Jesse Andrade, former paying teller and vice president of the Bank of Italy, Oakland branch, that he was beaten by three men while illegally held a prisoner in the directors' room of the bank.

The occurrance is alleged to have taken place July 21, 1922, following the discovery of an alleged shortage in the bank. Andrade was indicted for the shortage and for falsifying public records and was cleared of all charges at three trials.

The deposition was taken January 3 by the bank which has been named as one of a number of defendants in a $160,000 damage suit filed by Andrade, charging illegal arrest.

ALLEGED ATTACK DETAILED.

Andrade says that, on the date in question, he appeared at the bank at the request of A. J. Mount, in charge of the local branch. Mount took him to the directors' room, where three men were waiting, he says. He was not introduced to them, he declares, but identifies them as three men named Mueller, Harris and Gauque.

He says in his deposition that Gauque took a memorandum book from his pocket, after cursing him and charging him with theft of the bank's money, compelled him to give the details of each and every one of the entries in the book.

Mount and two of the men, Andrade swears, then left the room, conferring together outside of the door. Later, two of the men returned, Mount leaving. The lights were turned out and Andrade was compelled to remove his coat, he declares. Then one of the men charged him again with the theft of the money and intimated that he had given it to some woman over whom he had gotten into trouble, says the deposition.

DEATH THREATS CHARGED.

When Andrade denied this, one of the men offered to let him go free if he would tell him where "the package" was hidden. Andrade says. When he declared his ignorance of any such package, one of the men struck him, knocking him over a table and some chairs, he sets forth. He also charges that several threats were made during the night to kill him, the men saying, "We are not going to use our fists either."

When morning came, he was released with the reappearance of Mount, the deposition sets forth. He says he showed his injuries to Mount and that the latter expressed sorrow and said he did not know that such a thing was to be done.

Pioneer California Business Man Dies

John G. Lewis, former resident of Oakland and a pioneer business man of California died Monday in New Orleans, according to information received today. Lewis was en route to his boyhood home in Illinois for a visit. The funeral will be held in Oakland next Monday afternoon.

Lewis was born in Flora, Illinois, May 4, 1863. He came to California in 1876. He was postmaster at Chico during Cleveland's second term, and for many years was in business at Colleg and Shafter avenues, Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on September 8, 1922. Mrs. Lewis died on July 8, 1923.

Pastor's Wife Asks Gayer Life; Divorce Is to Result

One of them wanted only to work, and the other wanted to play—and so they lived unhappily ever after. That represented the married life of Rev. Dr. James S. West, according to declarations which both of them, without bitterness, made today.

Separated by a thousand miles—for Mrs. West is now in Seattle and her husband is on a sick bed at the home of friends in Oakland—neither of them held out any hope that the distance between them would ever grow less. Dr. West will sue for divorce, he said, so that Mrs. West may be free to live her life in her own way. Mrs. West, at her present home in Seattle, said she would sue if it were not for the fact that she could not think of a single charge to bring against her husband.

Dr. West is pastor of the First Baptist church in San Francisco. It was he who preached President Harding's funeral sermon in the presidential suite at the Palace Hotel last August. Recenily he startled the Bay district with his denunciation of "petting parties" which, he said, were menacing the boys and girls of today.

WIFE LONGS FOR GAYETY.

The tragedy of the Wests, according to both of them was that of a minister whose church work and ambitions filled his entire life, married to a beautiful, vivacious woman many years his junior, who longed for self-expression, music, and gayety.

"I can stand it no longer," declared Mrs. West. "I have tried and tried. My life as a minister's wife shuts me off from the things that give me the greatest pleasure. I love pretty clothes and music and dancing, and the thrill of dining in big hotels, and meeting interesting, distinguished people. My huebad has been wonderful, but I married too young, and before I realized what I was giving up to become the wife of a minister. I can no longer go on in the narrow stifled way I have lived for the past eight years. I am young and have many years ahead of me. Why should I never have any love life?"

"It is all over," said Dr. West, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Darnell, 492 Moss avenue, where he is recovering from a nervous breakdown precipitated by the separation. "I shall soon be myself again, and with renewed determination I shall carry on my ministry and labor for the welfare of the First Baptist church of San Francisco."

ROMANCE IN ROCHESTER.

The Wests were married fifteen years ago, when Dr. West was 30 and Mrs. West 16. Their marriage was the result of a romance that began when Dr. West, then a young clergyman from Virginia, came to preach in the young woman's home town of Rochester, N. Y. For the first seven years of their married life Mrs. West tried, she says, to adapt herself to the life of a minister's wife, attending Ladies' Aid society meetings, leading the church choir, organizing vocal quartets in the church and the like. But her craving for music and life was not satisfied, she says, and about eight years ago, the constant repression of her instincts to lead her own life in her own way became unendurable.

She began going to the theater, and to dances. She told her husband frankly what she was doing. But the knowledge of the criticism she was receiving in other quarters prevented her from finding happiness even in these "outlets."

TAKEN UP BY DEACONS.

When she became aware that she could no longer stand it, she said, she and Dr. West talked over every angle of the situation, first with each other and then with the deacons of Dr. West's church and higher church officers.

"We all feel that the best course has been taken by Dr. and Mrs. West," said H. A. Fanselow, one of the deacons. "Their problem is one of the great world problems of today. What else was to be done, when both had sincerely tried to make the best of a sad situation and had failed?"

Mrs. West took with her the 15-year-old daughter of the couple, Virginia. She intends to continue living on the coast, she says, because she does not want to take her daughter far from the child's father.

"I only pray that no harm will be done my husband's career by my action, and that the church will stand solidly back of him, for he has done no wrong," she said.

DRUGGISTS HEAR OF JURY SYSTEM

The evil of the professional juror and the value of a business man acting as a juror were presented to the members of the Alameda County Pharmaceutical Association last night by Judge Lincoln S. Church, who gave the principal address at the quarterly meeting of the association held in the Hotel Claremont.

Judge Church emphasized the difficulties of securing an impartial and just verdict where irresponsible men who are merely "professional jurors" compose the twelve men into whose hands the fate of some person is delivered. Dr. Haydn M. Simmons of the University of California college of pharmacy also gave a talk.

The entertainment was arranged by Percy Neuh, J. George Moore, Herman Reid and Maurice Koplan. Max Horwinski appeared in a novel skit. Clifton P. Rose, president of the county association presided at the banquet. More than 100 men attended.

Choose your church—and go. You'll feel a little bigger and a little better for having done so. Each notice in tonight's church pages is an earnest invitation given in the hope that it will be accepted—will it?

LOCK FILED AT SCHOOL IN ALAMEDA

Attempted Visit of Firebug Is Suspected After Discovery of Effort to Enter Building; Frightened Off

ALAMEDA, Jan. 26.—Investigation of an attempt to enter the Washington Grammar school last night is being made by the Alameda police under the direction of Officer Richard Britt. It is believed that the attempt to the enter the school may have been made with incendiary intentions by the firebug who destroyed the Lincoln school and is suspected of setting fires in five dwellings in Alameda.

The attempt to enter the building was reported to the police by J. C. Peters, janitor, who discovered locks on the rear door of the building filed deply. Discovery of the police patrol established here especially for protection against incendiary fires in schools, or disturbance by passers-by is believed to have frightened the person attempting an entrance into the building.

First White Baby In Placer Dies Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Louisa Boek will be held tomorrow afternoon from a private chapel at twenty-second and Webster streets, followed by interment in Mountain View Cemetery. Mrs. Boek died yesterday afternoon at her home, 2320 Webster street, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Boek was conceded to be the first white child born in Placer county. Her parents crossed the plains and settled in Dutch Flat, her birthplace. Two sons and two daughters survive. They are Frank Boek, connected with the athletic department of the Oakland high schools; Charles Boek, Mrs. Alice Schmidt and Mrs. Grace McCoy.

Enough water power is wasted in the United States annually to equal the power of 1,800,000,000 men.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby results much more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.—Advertisement.
